PRICE FIVE CENTS

C.P.R. SHIPS TO HAVE DECKING OF TIMBER FROM B.C.

Douglas Fir Specified For Two Palatial Liners and Five Cargo Ships

Selection of Western Product Marks Latest Victory For Timber Industry

Douglas fir, the great commercial wood of British Columbia, will form the decks of two palatial liners to be built by the Canadian Pacific Steamships Co., in England for the transatlantic passenger trade and for five cargo vessels. Announcement of this important development in this Province's lumber industry was made by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, to-day, following the receipt of advice from A. Pauline, B.C. Agent-General in London.

The decision of the great Canadian transportation organization to use B.C. woods for the decking of its new ships follows representations by Mr. Pauline. Some time ago the Minister of Lands learned that these vessels were to be built and at once took action in Montreal and in London to impress upon the builders the virtues of Douglas fir. The success of these efforts is indicated by the company's announcement that it will use Douglas fir for decking purposes.

DOUGLAS FIR POPULAR
This satisfactory development follows other instances of the marked success of B.C. woods in competition with the woods of other timber-producing areas. Recently British railways decided to come to the Province for millions of ties, while the British Admiralty decided to use Douglas fir for decking its battleships. Douglas fir also was selected for use in the Ontario Government's new building at the Toronto exhibition grounds in preference to other woods.

BIG CUTS ORDERED IN PRICE OF LAND HELD BY SETTLERS

Camp Lister Soldiers to Have Fifteen Years to Pay For Their Holdings

"This is Last Concession," Says Premier in Announcing Relief Plans

Returned soldier settlers in the Camp Lister settlement will be allowed heavy reductions in Government land charges to assist them in their farming operations, Premier Oliver announced to-day. Under a plan to be put into effect by the Land Settlement Board immediately, the Premier stated, the price of the land held by the returned men will be cut in half. This reduction follows a substantial cut made some time ago on the original price.

All accumulated interest charges are cancelled. Settlers will be required to pay ten per cent. of the purchase price down, if they have not already done so, and the remaining charges will be spread over fifteen years with interest at seven per cent. Any money paid by settlers on account of the old agreement with the Government will stand as cash payments under the new contract.

IS LAST CONCESSION

"These reductions represent the last concession the Government will make to the settlers," the Premier said. "At the new and reduced prices of the land we certainly could dispose of it easily elsewhere.

The scheme of relief to be put into effect immediately was worked out by the Premier in conference with officials of the Land Settlement Board after he had visited the Camp Lister area and inspected conditions there. The Government's proposals have been accepted as satisfactory by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P. for Creston, who has been representing the settlers in their negotiations with the Government.

ADLY YEGHEN NEW PREMIER OF EGYPT

Cabinet Formed by Him Now Has Control of Affairs in Nile Country

Cairo, June 7.—A new Egyptian cabinet has been formed, the recent general election and who himself had been mentioned as possible Premier, but withdrew, had a very friendly conversation with King Fuad on Saturday, and the general situation continues to improve.

A situation described as "distinctly grave" for a time arose a few days ago between Great Britain and the Egyptian Government owing to the insistence of Zagloul Pasha that he take over control of the government. The British Government, in a note, reserved "complete liberty of action" and subsequently Zagloul Pasha announced his decision to how to the will of his Nationalist followers, withdrawing his candidacy for the premiership.

According to London dispatches, Adly Pasha's accession to power would not be welcomed with unreserved pleasure by the British Government as he would be largely dependent upon the Zagloul adherents for his stay in office.

MRS. PANKHURST MAY BE TORY CANDIDATE

London, June 7.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst has openly renounced her earlier views in favor of the Conservatives and is reported to be about to contest a constituency as a Conservative candidate. She is quoted as saying: "In my younger days I believed in State Socialism of the kind advocated by Sidney Webb, but I can no longer support the view: state ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange would be any benefit to the community."

"My war experience and my experience on the other side of the Atlantic, particularly in Canada, have changed my views profoundly," she concluded by saying: "I am now an Imperialist."

NO BRAZILIAN AT LEAGUE MEETING

Council Session Starts in City of Geneva With Mello
Franco Absent

Geneva, June 7.—A sensation was caused at the opening public meeting of the fortieth session of the League of Nations Council here to-day when it was seen A. Franco Mello Franco, the Brazilian representative, was not present.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, announced he had received a letter from Mello Franco stating illness would prevent his attendance. As no other member of the Brazilian delegation was substituted, however, Mello Franco's absence was generally interpreted as of a diplomatic nature.

SPAIN REPRESENTED

After a considerable exchange of messages between Geneva and Madrid, Spain decided to be represented at the Council meeting, but only by the first secretary of the Spanish legation in Bern. The powers are usually represented on the Council by the minister of foreign affairs, but in this case, both Brazil and Spain are candidates for permanent Council seats, but the reorganization committee charged with studying the problem does not favor increasing the number of permanent seats beyond that promised to Germany.

In view of Spain's last-minute decision to be represented, however, League officials to-day voiced the confidence and hope that the Brazilian envoy would recover sufficiently from his illness to attend the subsequent sessions.

ANXIETY VOICED

The attitude of Spain and Brazil is causing great anxiety. Indications are, however, that nothing will be allowed to block the entry of Germany into the League, and it is known she is against giving permanent seats to others than herself.

Marquis Quinones de Leon, who has been Spain's regular representative at Council meetings, has gone to Madrid to consult with Premier Prime de Rivera.

COUNCIL MAY PUT MANAGER PLAN TO VOTE IMMEDIATELY

Legal Objections to Petition Render it Useless, City is Told

Aldermen Brown and Holmes
Will Move For By-law Action
By Council

The city manager petition presented to the City Council last Monday by John Dean, ex-Alderman David Leeming, ex-Alderman J. H. Gillespie, Alderman H. C. Holmes, and 2,439 others cannot be put to the people in its present form. Advice to this effect will be given to the council to-night by its legal aides.

In discussing the situation this morning, Mayor Henday pointed to the wording of the petition, which would place authority to dismiss a city manager at the pleasure of a three-fourth majority of the council. Conversely, said the mayor, if two aldermen of the eleven on the council chose to favor an appointee who was otherwise unsatisfactory to the remainder, he could be retained in office against the will of the majority.

The council has two courses at its disposal. It may send back the petition to its supporters with a request for a changing of the wording of its prayer; or may take matters into its own hands under Section 4 of the municipal manager legislation the council may put a by-law before the people direct.

SAYS CITY TAXES MORE FAVORABLE

City Comptroller Takes Exception to Figures of Institute

Per Capita Civic Tax in Victoria Is Approximately $40,
Not $132.33

In explanation of figures released on Saturday by the Canadian Citizens' Research Institute, D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, points to the per capita tax, given for Victoria as $132.33, as inclusive of Dominion and Provincial taxation as well as civic tax bills.

The per capita tax of Victoria city on its taxpayers in the neighborhood of $40 per annum," said Mr. Macdonald, "while the figure of $132.33 quoted as placing Victoria at the head of the list must be inclusive of both Federal and Provincial taxation. It is only fair to point out that the civic responsibility rests with the $40 per capita charge."

"Other cities show a lower general total for Federal, Provincial and civic charges, it may well be; but there are many centres with civic taxes much above those in force here," concluded Mr. Macdonald.

THREE BEARS KILLED BY RANCHERS AND THREE MADE ESCAPE

Vancouver, June 7.—When Charles Montgomery, rancher at Sunnyside, situated on Burrard Inlet fifteen miles east of Vancouver, went out into his garden Sunday morning he was startled to find six bears disrupting themselves in one of his trees a few yards from the house.

Three of the bears were killed by neighbors armed with rifles and the remaining three were driven off.

Montgomery has suffered heavy financial loss through raids by bears on his chickens, beehives and garden.

WINNIPEG MAYOR TO APPEAR IN COURT

Webb Charged by One Big Union Men With Advising Assault on Them

Spoke Harshly of O.B.U. in Speech as Result of Strike Vote

Winnipeg, June 7.—Information on two charges has been laid against Mayor R. R. Webb of Winnipeg by officials of the One Big Union and the chief magistrate of the city will appear in county police court Wednesday forenoon. The information was laid by John Clancy and James Herbert Dunn. Both are organizers for the One Big Union.

The charges are:
"1.—That he did counsel divers persons to commit an assault on the informant."

"2.—That he without lawful authority and with a view to compelling the informant to abstain from carrying on his lawful occupation as a labor organizer, did intimidate this informant by using threats of violence."

The action is the outcome of an address made by Mayor Webb before a meeting of the Industrial Board of Winnipeg.

OPEN WAR

In his address, the mayor declared open war on the One Big Union with a view to its ultimate extermination. He is alleged to have mentioned the names of Clancy and Dunn during his address and also to have declared certain men, whom he styled "agitators," should be thrown into the Red River if it was not possible to take legal action against them.

STRIKE VOTE

The mayor's discussion of the One Big Union and labor affairs was a result of demands made by the street railway employees of Winnipeg who are members of the One Big Union. They recently took a vote on the starting of a strike if their demands should be refused.

SISTER MARY ANNA CALLED BY DEATH

Was Superintendent of St.
Joseph's Nursing School For Many Years

Hundreds of nurses throughout the Province, as well as many former patients of St. Joseph's Hospital, will learn with sincere regret of the passing of Sister Mary Anna, who for over thirty years has been at the head of the Order of St. Ann in British Columbia, both in Victoria and Vancouver. The end came this morning after a long and painful illness which lasted two years' duration, during which the Sister was a patient in St. Joseph's.

Sister Mary Anna before she joined the congregation of the Sisters of St. Ann thirty-two years ago, was Sister Margaret Daly of Rawdon, Quebec. She came to this Province shortly after taking her final vows and for about fifteen years had a most successful teaching career in Victoria at St. Ann's Academy and in Vancouver in the convent school.

In 1912 she was appointed superintendent of the training school for nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital, and about fifteen years later was appointed nursing superintendent here from her position as a strict disciplinarian. Sister Mary Anna always tempered her judgment with sympathy and she was beloved alike by nurses and these members of the public who came within range of her kindly and efficient ministrations.

MAN IS ACCUSED OF COUNTERFEITING

John Galvin is in Custody in Ottawa; Forged Banknotes
and Dies Seized

Man Passed Notes in Victoria May 3; Police Make Inquiries of Ottawa Police

Ottawa, June 7.—John Galvin, thirty-five, claiming to be a Russian, in whose possession city police here on Saturday found a complete counterfeiting outfit and a large number of partly completed ten-pound Bank of England notes, appeared in police court this forenoon on a charge of being in possession of forged or partly forged banknotes and was remanded for a week.

The seized notes, if genuine, would have a value of $5,100.

Galvin said he had come to Ottawa from Victoria, B.C., where he had lived for six months. Previous to that, the police say, Galvin resided in San Francisco.

REMAINS SILENT

While he refused to make any statement, the police believe the prisoner is a member of an international gang operating between England, Canada and the United States. Galvin was arrested in an apartment here which he had leased.

The police stated the outfit discovered was the most complete they had seen in years and included two copper plates, expertly engraved various dies, dies and a quantity of engraving and other tools. Included in the outfit were 182 partly-engraved bills, watermarked and each of ten-pound denomination.

The prisoner, the police stated, refused to give any details as to his career. He is apparently a continental European and speaks fluently in five languages.

Two in Australia Accused of Murder

Kalgoorlie, Australia, June 7.—Another chapter in the mysterious murder of Inspector Walsh and Sergeant Pitman, which was one of the greatest sensations the goldfields of Australia have ever known, was opened to-day with the arrest of two men charged with the crime.

The mutilated and headless bodies of the two police officers were found in an abandoned mine shaft. The officers had set out to trap gold thieves.

COMMONS GIVES APPROVAL FOR FEDERAL LOAN

One Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars to Be Raised by Finance Minister Soon in Best Market; Funds to Be Used to Retire Obligations Due in October and November and Next Year, Says Robb

Ottawa, June 7.—The Government of Canada was authorized by the House of Commons to-day to borrow $150,000,000 to retire loans maturing in 1926 and 1927. Of this sum about $43,000,000 will fall due in New York in October and November of this year. Next year's maturities are nearly all payable in Canada.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, said the Government would follow the usual policy and borrow wherever it could get the cheapest money—whether in Canada, Great Britain or the United States.

The resolution and the bill based on it passed all stages of the House without an amendment. These two were payable in the United States.

October 30 about $35,000,000 would fall due and on November 15 another $5,000,000. These two were payable in the United States. (Concluded on page 2)

CAMERA TURNED ON VICTORIA FOR MOVIES THIS WEEK

Series of New World Travelogues Inaugurated Here by Hollywood Company

The crowds coming to Victoria on the steamer Princess Kathleen yesterday were delayed at the gang-plank at Seattle by a broad and exaggerated type of traveling gentleman, who pulled out railroad tickets from his pockets by the yard and then became all cluttered up in it, when asked by the purser for his fare.

While the man pulled out ticket strips by the yard, cameras turned. And thus was inaugurated a new series of moving picture travelogues, which starting on the boat trip here from Seattle and 10,000 feet of film now being taken here will cover the world for its subjects during the next couple of years, and will be exhibited to hundreds of millions of persons.

With his company of actors and actresses and his cameraman, Laurence A. Hughes, an Australian, head of the Laurence A. Hughes Productions, world travelogues, established themselves here Sunday afternoon and started to work to-day on Victoria as the first place in the new series of pictures.

Mr. Hughes has been one of the chief studio executives of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production organization and now with powerful backing he has been launched at the head of his own production company. The present tour will take the company as far north as Prince Rupert and then in through Jasper Park during the next six weeks, Mexico and Eastern Canada will be tackled next, the Australia and the South Pacific. The series will include all the feature and interesting places of the world.

These travelogues are being produced with a new idea to give them the maximum in distribution possibilities. Mr. Hughes explained. (Concluded on page 2)

PLANE TO CARRY FIFTY PEOPLE AND TEN TONS OF MAIL

New York, June 7.—Plans for construction of a giant aeroplane to carry fifty passengers and ten tons of mail in a service from New York to California were announced to-day by Captain Hugo Stensted, Swedish ace.

When fully loaded, the craft, which will have a wing surface of 2,000 square feet, will weigh twenty tons and will be able to attain a speed of 150 miles per hour, according to Captain Stensted.

After a test of the model in the laboratories of the school of aeronautics at New York University to-day, Prof. Stensted said the model "looked fine and would probably show up well in the test results."

FIREMEN SUBDUED HIDDEN OUTBREAK AT LUMBER MILL

Fight Through Suffocating Smoke Beneath Floor of Plant

Machinery Roars on While Fire Fighters Master Dangerous Blaze

Fast action on the part of the men of the Victoria Fire Department quelled what might have been a disastrous fire at Lemon-Gunnison's big mill on Douglas Street this morning. Called at 10.20 o'clock, the brigade answered with alacrity and within less than two minutes had men working on the scene of the outbreak, although the base of the flames could not be immediately discovered.

From under the heavy six-inch plank of the floor, beside the big furnaces and above which was a pile of sawdust fuel, thin wisps of smoke were creeping. Firemen ripped the planks from the cross beams and went under the floor to investigate. It was suffocating in there, and the firemen choked as they fought through the fumes and strained their eyes for a glimpse of the blaze.

Hoses were taken in immediately. Under the direction of Chief Vernon Stuart, men ripped up the flooring in close proximity to the sawdust pile, while men with shovels worked feverishly to remove the store of dry fuel which was kept for use in the roaring furnaces. Smoke was belching through a corrugated iron room in which was located the blacksmith forge. Firemen tried their way in there, working under the floor.

In the pitch darkness beneath the superstructure and foundations of the mill, which was buzzed over-head and laborers toiled without illumination, the men of the fighting force went about their business.

They at length located the slowly burning fire amid the wood and sawdust under the floor. Once they had found it they quickly quelled the blaze.

Had it been at another time, when few workmen were about, and had the fire gained a foothold at the mill, the results of the fire might have been disastrous. It was only the smart work of the firemen that saved the situation.

Coast steamship service. He was a member of Court Northern Light, A.O.F., of the A.O. U.W., and the National Association of Marine Engineers.

TO START FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS ON ISLAND HIGHWAYS

Road System in Better Shape
Than Ever Before; Tourist Rush Starts

More Oiling, Work at Parson's Bridge and Repair of Shawnigan Road Planned

Important improvements to Vancouver Island roads in addition to those carried out during the last few weeks will be announced at the Public Works Department today. These will put the road system of the Island into better shape than ever before at this time of year, in advance of the annual tourist rush.

The first unit in this improvement programme will be the treatment of the Island Highway from Parson's Bridge up to Colwood, a section which was recently under the blistering sun of yesterday. The oil there grew soft and sticky, as motorists quickly discovered when they tried to take the Colwood hill on "high." Sand and crushed rock is being spread over the surface to-day to put the road into better shape.

IMPROVE SPOKE ROAD

The Spoke Road is being improved at many points to eliminate rough spots. The Shawanigan Lake cut-off road, which was badly damaged when it was used as a detour some time ago, will be improved immediately. The importance of this road is recognized by the Public Works Department, which has decided to overcome its present rough condition. Many ruts developed during the detour period, while the top surface was swept away in places by the heavy main road traffic which traveled it.

MORE OILING

Further north the Island Highway will be oiled from Duncan seven miles in the direction of Nanaimo. This work is the result of an agreement between the Government and the Municipality of North Cowichan whereby the municipality pays twenty-five per cent. of the cost of the work. Next year the remaining gap north to a point near Nanaimo will be oiled.

Island roads are reported now as better than ever before. With a large part of the Island Highway and many side roads oiled, and the incoming and outgoing traffic comfortable motoring in practically all districts.

COUNCIL MAY PUT MANAGER PLAN TO VOTE IMMEDIATELY

(Continued from page 1) Viewing the latter course as the correct one, Aldermen P. R. Brown and H. C. Holmes are expected to move a motion to-night for the appointment of a committee to draft the wording of a by-law which, they suggest, could then be put up to the ratepayers. This would take the intention of the petitioners to secure a referendum on the plan and give action for such a ballot, without the delay of rejecting the petition and waiting for another.

Frank Higgins, K.C., who helped in the preparation of the petition, announced last week that if the petition is rejected its supporters would take mandamus proceedings against the city to compel action on its prayer.

tion which will be presented to-night reads as follows:

"Whereas the City Council have received a petition purporting to be signed by approximately 2,435 electors praying that we adopt the principle of the manager form of administration in the city of Victoria, and whereas it is generally admitted that the appointee shall be one of known and proved ability in civic administration,

"Therefore be it resolved that the city solicitor be requested to prepare a by-law to be submitted to the electors as contained in Clause 4, Chapter 34, entitled the Municipal Manager Act."

ALDERMAN BROWN'S VIEW

Speaking as to the desirability of otherwise of a change in the municipal government in Victoria, Alderman Brown said to-day: "I cannot see where a manager could have done any better than the 1925 council finally arrived at after reducing the budget as was done."

"However, I am willing to give the new system a fair trial, particularly when the ratepayers refuse to exercise their franchise in the best interests of the city generally. I am almost ashamed to quote you an example which came under my own observation at a recent municipal election, when one of our leading citizens in every sense of the word only cast two votes when it was his privilege to have cast five, perhaps if it had not been for some personal motive, he would not have voted at all."

"The advertisement inserted in our daily papers by a number of promoters of the scheme claim that the manager plan will be efficient, economical, responsible administration with a reduction in taxes. This in my opinion is a little misleading as I do not think that any council however well advised could have cut both the mill rate and assessment below that of 1925, as adopted."

"During the preparation of the 1926 budget, certain recommendations were made by the controller and engineer which were thrown aside by the council, and I might say that I consider some of their recommendations were well within reason, but the council practically as a whole went over their heads and adopted a policy absolutely in the opposite direction, inasmuch as the council have gone so far as to be recorded in opposition to our action. Now this is where the shoe would pinch, and I think the council has received the endorsement of the ratepayers, and where would our manager's approval have stood where the whole council went over his head strictly against his wishes."

"It is quite true that an alderman's time is fully occupied between the City Hall and his private interests, but after all is this not the case of representatives of the city? You want to govern your city? Those who are active and always in contact with the wishes of the ratepayers."

"If as much interest were taken in city affairs near election time as is now taken, the responsible ratepayers to take their turn on a board of civic administration, there would be no need for the change that is advocated, but if the ratepayers are not prepared to take their share of responsibility and allow a government whether municipal or otherwise to fall by the wayside for lack of support, then the sooner we appoint a manager with full authority the better."

England Completes
First Innings For 250 Against "Rest"

London, June 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—In the cricket test trial to-day England scored 250 in their first innings as against 211 by the Rest on Saturday. The play of England was noteworthy for some timely hitting by Hobbs, who scored 85, and the excellent bowling partnership between Allen and Kilner, which added 63 in seventy minutes.

TRAVELOGUES POPULAR

It returns, we have found that most people like travelogues, but their weak point with part of the theatre audiences has been the quality of the principal character in the comedy value. Mr. Hughes said, "In the series now being started here we keep up the exceptional quality of the travelogue photography, but we introduce some characters who will run all the way through the series in every part of the world. The principal character is an Englishman, who will be seen in action everywhere with some beautiful girls to sustain the human interest."

"Another feature of the series will be the unusual title work, which will be carried out along new lines and done by the highest priced movie title writer. The pictures will also go out with their own musical accompaniment. For instance, in 'Victoria' we are about to feature the scenes of natural beauty, the hedges, the trees, the flowers and they will be thrown on the screen in all parts of the world to the accompaniment of specially arranged beautiful, dreamy, soothing music."

George I. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, took the party in charge this morning and in a car loaned by J. W. Spencer hustled them off to work. Scenes around the Parliament buildings, the Victoria Hotel, the Mahab and Butcher's gardens have been laid out for working on during the week.

In the party is Senator Nicholas J. Wilson of Hollywood, who was speaker of the Michigan Legislature in Roosevelt's time. Others are Mrs. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pollock and John J. Richardson.

BORDER SHOOTING IS INVESTIGATED

Beauchamp of Montreal and who was fired upon by alleged customs agents, had the step under consideration.

The physician, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp, was speeding her to the bedside of Alcide Beauchamp when the automobile in which they were riding was pursued by a machine which had been parked on a road near Swanton, Vermont, at the border.

ARM INJURED

A bullet pierced Mr. Beauchamp's arm and the machine was ridden. When the automobile was stopped Mr. Beauchamp was confronted by two men who declared they were customs agents, but who wore no badges and refused to show credentials. Finally they allowed Dr. Labelle to drive on.

He reported the incident to a representative of the State Department, which advised him to take up the matter with the Canadian Government.

FEDERALS NOT INVOLVED

St. Albans, Vt., June 7.—Denial that Federal officers had fired on Dr. J. A. Labelle, Montreal surgeon, while he was crossing the international boundary to visit a patient was made today by Collector of Customs Harry C. Whitehill, after an investigation of the surgeon's complaint.

REPORT AWAITED

Ottawa, June 7.—No complaint has yet been received by the Canadian Government from the alleged shooting incident near Swanton, Vermont, when shots are said to have been fired at two Montreal citizens.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—Two men and two women were killed late Saturday night when a fast Pennsylvania passenger train crashed into their automobile at White House grade crossing at Garfield Heights village, a suburb of Cleveland.

The train was carrying a full complement of passengers and was traveling at high speed when it struck the automobile, which was carrying four persons.

TOLD BY CONSUL

At the beginning of the committee's sitting this forenoon J. H. Ross of Toronto was called to tell what he knew of the shipment.

Mr. Ross said he had received word of the shipment from the then Mexican consul at Toronto.

In answer to R. T. Ferguson, the witness said he had made an allegation that part of these goods were not going out of Canada. To this, the then Minister of Customs, Hon. Jacques Bureau, replied that this shipment in bond had been received.

R. L. Calder read correspondence to show the landing certificates for this shipment of liquor were false.

Letters he read stated W. D. Madden, British vice-consul at Ensenada, had received $1,000 for affixing his signature to false clearance papers for liquor shipments.

Mr. Ferguson pointed out this shipment had been watched very carefully and that there was very little question of its having left Canada.

He maintained that if this liquor, which was supposedly shipped to Mexico, had really been landed in the United States, Hiram Walker & Sons Ltd., Canadian customs service, as well as the had been deceived as well as the Canadian customs service.

"My contention is that this liquor was never sent to Mexico at all but was bootlegged into the United States," said Mr. Calder.

A. M. Kennedy, acting chief inspector of the Department of Customs and Excise, the next witness, said he had made a special inspection of the port of Montreal. This inspection had been in progress from January 13 to May 7 of the present year. He laid before the committee an exhaustive report of his inspection.

There had not been an inspection of the port by the chief inspector of customs since sometime in 1922, he said.

This report dealt, in part, with evasions of the sale tax as well as arrears of payment had 100 cases stated the hands of lawyers at the time of the inspection. There was a shortage in the inspection staff engaged in sales tax work and recommendation was made for the appointment of at least two more inspectors.

three local banks and escaped the law.

It was impossible to say, Chief Detective Harry O'Leary said this morning whether or not the alleged forger arrested in Ottawa was the same man who had passed the notes at local banks. He awaited a description of the man held by the Ottawa authorities, he stated. The detective office here has a good description of the man who duped Victoria bank tellers and who went by the name of John Millosh.

At three banks, all within a few minutes, the man who operated his fake bill trick in Victoria duped the officials. Despite a thorough search, he escaped. His printing apparatus, one supposed to have been used by him, was later found in the house where he had rooms. The police still have this press.

It is not likely, according to Chief of Police John Fry, that the alleged Ottawa forger will be brought back to Victoria even if he is the man who was later found in the house where he had rooms. The case against him will be all the stronger, however, if he is found to be the man who operated here. Since he admits he was recently in Victoria, the city police are endeavoring to establish his connection with the May 3 plot which was so successfully carried out by the daring counterfeiter.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

The body of the late Charles Frederick Beaven was laid to rest Saturday afternoon. The funeral took place from Haysman's B.C. Funeral Company Chapel at 2.30 o'clock, where service was conducted by the Rev. John Robson at the chapel. There was a large attendance of friends, the casket and hearse being covered with beautiful floral designs. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The members of the Sons of England and the Sons of the Empire, both of whom were present, conducted the S.O.E. service at the graveside, assisted by Bro. D. Brown, chaplain. After the service the members sang "Nearer My God, to Thee." The following

VANCOUVER MAN ENDED HIS LIFE

Vancouver, June 7.—Hanging from a tree adjacent to the reservoir trail in Stanley Park, the lifeless body of George Goddard, 732 Burrard Street, was found shortly after 7 a.m. Sunday by George Easber, 1564 Eleventh Avenue West, and J. C. Wilson, 1822 Fourteenth Avenue East, who were enjoying an early morning stroll through the park.

After the police had been notified, the body was cut down and removed to the city morgue. It is unlikely an inquest will be held. Identification of the body was made through a personal card found in the clothing. Mrs. Goddard later identified the body at the morgue.

FREIGHTS DISCRIMINATION UNAVOIDABLE, SAYS LANIGAN

Canadian Pacific Railway Freight Expert Explains British Columbia Freight Structure to Chamber of Commerce

Wise discrimination is a vital factor in construction of a fair freight rates schedule. W. B. Lanigan, General Freight Traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, this afternoon told the directors of the Chamber of Commerce when explaining his views as to equalization of freight rates, declaring that no more absurd theory had ever been brought out. "You might as well have an agitation for equalization of taxation in the Provinces."

He touched upon the paucity of traffic originating in British Columbia, outside the Coast communities, and the heavy additional costs involved in hauling freight over or around mountains. This, he stated, was to be twenty per cent. above prairie haulage costs, this causing the Railway Commission to authorize charges ten per cent. higher.

Mr. Lanigan recalled that in 1878 when Sir John Macdonald first announced the railroad policy which brought the Canadian Pacific Railway into being, 25,000,000 acres of land were given as a grant, but had no value of importance, the total cost assistance being $25,000,000 in cash and land valued at $7,500,000, according to a repurchase value of $1.50 per acre later, set by the Government when recapturing a portion of the grant.

Freight rates have been set by competition, he pointed out, costs having nothing to do with the question. Other services given by the Canadian Pacific Railway were touched upon, such as the coastwise steamship service, which Mr. Lanigan declared to be unequalled anywhere else.

HOW RATES MADE

Discussing rates in effect, he declared that no man with arbitrary authority had controlled the establishment of charges. "Every rate has been made very largely as a result of consultation and agreement with parties interested," he asserted, recalling that, at a recent discussion at Calgary, when classifications were set for 5,500 lines of goods, only four railroad men took part, the majority being shippers. "Only seven complaints have arisen against those classifications," he said.

"The Board of Railway Commissioners has been in existence twenty-one years, and if they have produced the chaos said to exist, it would be about time they were abolished. As a matter of fact, they are a pretty level tribunal," he said with approval. "Isn't it rather a reflection on the shippers and railroads of this country that we have to take our dispute to a tribunal which necessarily is not as familiar with our conditions as we ourselves should be?" he asked.

Touching upon Vancouver Island conditions, Mr. Lanigan declared that the eighty-eight-mile handicap from Vancouver has been very largely ignored.

COSTS NOT KNOWN

"It is really not possible to get down to the actual cost per ton for transporting any one line of goods, the average cost per ton mile is all we can arrive at," he explained when asked whether haulage of grain from Calgary to Vancouver was based on the actual cost.

Estimates of $124 as cost of moving grain from Calgary to Vancouver do not include certain overheads, he intimated. Depreciation, overhead, and financing not being included, but maintenance of way and equipment were factors. "There is no way of estimating accurately the cost of moving freight from point to point," he said, recalling that one tabulation under examination showed forty per cent. of the assigned costs to be "a mere guess."

More than sixty-five per cent. of eastbound British Columbia freight moves at less than the mountain classification, Mr. Lanigan showed, citing examples where low freights have been accorded to compete with Panama Canal waterborne freights. "It does not do the Winnipeg or Calgary man any harm but benefits western jobbers," he considered.

MUST DISCRIMINATE

"There has got to be discrimination in railway rates, he asserted, pointing out that the Railway Commission's instructions require prohibition of "unjust discrimination." Potato and hay marketing were cited, the Canadian Pacific having aided producers with rates "for which no other justification can be found."

"The rates from Victoria east to anywhere are just about one-third less than they are from Seattle, Portland, Tacoma or San Francisco, where more traffic offers," he said, referring to class rates, declaring this condition to have existed for at least ten years.

Asked what would be the effect of reduction of domestic grain rates to parity with export rates, Mr. Lanigan recalled that export rates had been permitted years ago because otherwise the railroads might refuse concessions to protect rates giving a reasonable profit on domestic traffic.

MUST SHOW PROFIT

Revenues of the railways are not now any more than sufficient to give an adequate return and sufficient surplus to take care of betterments and the Canadian Pacific now has an investment of $900,000,000 on which 3 1/2 per cent. is paid. Mr. Lanigan recalled that the United States Interstate Commerce Commission has assigned as a reasonable return 5 1/2 per cent. on the value of the railways, a figure the Canadian Pacific has never paid.

"If the returns are now not more than adequate, reduction of earnings by abolition of the mountain classification would have to be made up somewhere else," he pointed out, recalling that at recent hearings in the East, when complaints of discrimination favoring British Columbia were aired, his defence had been that discrimination was proper to give access to markets. "British Columbia without preferential rates would be absolutely out of the market," he remarked when citing salmon, apples and lumber as instances. British Columbia lumber is hauled to Detroit for 88 cents per hundred, a rate almost as low as from Bathurst, N.B., to Windsor, one-sixth the distance.

Mr. Lanigan pointed out that Victoria enjoys parity with Vancouver in shipping to all points east of Spence's Bridge, while the rates on the E. and N. Railway are lower than on the Mainland.

The rail rates from Vancouver for 650 miles is about equivalent to 820 miles on the prairies, while costs are about twenty per cent. higher, Mr. Lanigan informed Mr. Twigg, declaring that mountain rates, as such, are not officially spoken of in railroad circles, when Mr. Twigg asked "Is not the mountain schedule a shibboleth?"

BOOM PERIOD JUST AROUND THE CORNER FORECASTS E. S. FARR

Country Now Well on in Period of Recovery, Gyro Club Members Are Told

"I feel that we are well on our way in the period of recovery, and that within the next few years we will experience a boom," declared E. S. Farr of the High School staff, in an address before the Gyro Club today on the subject of "Seeing Around the Business Corner."

Mr. Farr told of the business cycle, which included the slump, the period of recovery and the boom. Men in all ways of life tried to anticipate the future, he said, and they built on their foresight. In recent years science had come to the aid of foresight and the industrial economist or statistician was able to foretell the needs of the future. These men, declared Mr. Farr, had worked out over a period of more than one century, that there is a period of from eight to eleven years between each boom.

THE NATURAL FLOW

At the present time the influential men of the United States are trying to anticipate the future and wondering whether or not their boom is nearing its end and a period of depression about to set in, went on Mr. Farr. He produced a diagram to show the large amount of gold held by the United States and the small amount in Europe. This tended to the cheaper production of goods in Europe and the natural flow of these goods was to the land with the large amount of gold, where production was much higher.

"As long as the United States has a large gold reserve cheap goods will continue to flow there despite the tariff," stated Mr. Farr.

Business men, he went on, should protect themselves more for the crisis which inevitably followed a boom. In many cases business men expanded at the peak, and were not in a good position to weather the slump.

"Every man in business should be trying to chart the future so as to soften the period of depression and prevent the peak from going too high," advised Mr. Farr.

Gyro Art McNeill won the attendance prize.

CARBON Puts a Drag on Your Car

HARD, gritty carbon, deposited by poor lubricating oil, prevents your motor from delivering the full power it was built to give.

Carbon makes your engine "knock" and miss, and causes pre-ignition. It takes the real pleasure out of motoring; because your car no longer responds to the accelerator as it should.

There is only one motor oil that successfully combats carbon—Marvelube, the new process Imperial Motor Oil!

Marvelube is new and entirely different from any other motor oil. It is made from Peruvian Crude, the world's richest lubricant base, by the Marvelube Process, which was developed by Imperial Oil Limited after four years of research and experiment.

No other motor oil can compare with Marvelube either in its almost carbonless quality or in all round lubricating value. No other oil company can duplicate Marvelube because Imperial Oil Limited controls both crude and process.

Free your car from the drag of carbon! Fill your crank case with the correct grade of Marvelube today and note the new power and smoothness with which this newest and finest of all motor oils endows your motor.

Marvelube is made in six grades, including Marvelube "F" for Fords and is sold at Imperial Oil Stations and by good dealers everywhere. The standard retail price of Marvelube from bulk is 40c. per quart.

STRATHCONA PARK

ALTHOUGH EVERYBODY MUST APPRECIATE the difficulty of preserving timber which already has been alienated, there is no question that every effort should be made to preserve the magnificent stands in Strathcona Park. This is a special case if only for the reason that if the greater part of the attraction of that area shall be removed, it would endanger the park and impair its value. No doubt there are other tracts of commercial timber which could be traded for this particular area.

The important point to remember about Vancouver Island's timber is that at the present rate of cutting the time is not far distant when what is now the beauty spot of the Pacific Northwest will be largely a piece of scarred landscape. For the moment, of course, Strathcona Park to most people is just a place on the map, difficult to reach, and of not much use in its undeveloped condition; but to consider the question from that standpoint would be to take no account of the future. The most insistent point is that, as our agricultural and industrial activities expand, the day will come when Strathcona Park will be one of the few remaining preserves of the kind on the Island. It should therefore be protected as a park now.

OTTAWA'S CENTENARY

IS OTTAWA PAROCHIAL? THE QUESTION is asked by The Ottawa Citizen and answered by The Calgary Herald. It has cropped up at this time because of the approaching centenary celebration in the national capital. Of this The Herald says:

This is an event that arouses interest in parts of Canada far removed from Ottawa. Ottawa does not belong only to those living there. It is the capital city of Canada, the heart of the Dominion. In it all Canadians have an interest.

The Citizen looks forward to the day when the Canadian people will regard the capital of their country much in the same way as the people of the neighboring republic look upon Washington. In its opinion Ottawa ought to be visited by thousands of Canadians every year just as is the United States capital—"as pilgrims to a shrine."

Our contemporary, however, gently chides the people of Ottawa and tells them they will have to realize their duties in the matter, suggesting that if they expect other Canadians to look upon their city as a national city, they in turn "must look upon Canada from the wider point of view of the nation." Here again The Calgary Herald observes:

One feels at times that Ottawa itself is too parochial. Do its own citizens realize that it is this country's capital? Do they look outside of the remainder of the Dominion realizing that they hold a beautiful city in trust for the Canadian people? One does not get that impression in Ottawa.

The Citizen thinks that incidents in the past have justified this reproach; but consoles itself with the fact that a new spirit seems to be manifesting itself. At this distance we can express the hope that the centenary will be the means of still further developing Ottawa's civic and national consciousness in these matters.

IDLE TONNAGE

ON APRIL 1 OF THIS YEAR THERE were 248 idle ships, representing a tonnage of 359,948, laid up in the principal ports of the United Kingdom. These are the figures quoted in the last quarterly report to be issued. They show a slight reduction in comparison with the situation at January 1, when there were 259 ships, representing a tonnage of 407,664, without anything to do. It will be noted that the increase given in the first quarter is a comparatively small one over the previous three months. In fact, while northern ports did better, southern ports, including London Docks and Southampton and Bristol, showed increased idleness to the extent of close on 70,000 tons.

Just a little more than twelve months ago very busy shipping magnates from Great Britain and the United States left their offices and hurried to Ottawa as fast as steamship and passenger train could carry them. Their business was to oppose the Dominion Government's ship subsidy proposal at all costs. They spent very large sums of money in various ways and one of the most complete lobbies ever organized at Ottawa worked for all it was worth for many days and nights. Sir William Petersen died while the parliamentary committee was investigating the affairs of the North Atlantic Conference. What happened afterwards is now a matter of history.

The fact remains, however, that there were 248 ships idle in the United Kingdom on April 1—reminding us once again that, as Sir Alfred Yarrow pointed out when he visited Victoria last, there is not the business in the world at present to furnish cargo for anything like all the world's ships. Yet there is no inducement given to exporters in the shape of cheaper rates. But other industries have had to adjust themselves from war-time to peace-time conditions.

FRANCE'S GREAT ARMY

ACCORDING TO COLONEL JEAN Fabry, who is a well-known French authority on military questions and formerly a member of the reporting committee of the Army Commission of the Chamber of Deputies, the present standing army of the republic numbers no less than 607,000 men. This means an army that could take the field of battle immediately if the occasion required it to do so. The annual cost to the French taxpayer for this establishment, moreover, is given by Colonel Fabry at 4,059,000,000 francs. Incidentally, while the figures include the troops in Northern Africa, they take no account of the forces in French colonies or protectorate countries, nor in those for which France holds a mandate under the League of Nations and the Treaty of Versailles.

To the casual observer at this distance it seems an extraordinary thing that France, nearly eight years after the end of the Great War, should deem it necessary to maintain an army greater than that of Great Britain and the United States combined, and at a time when the franc is worth only a few cents. Surely the French taxpayer has a right to look for practical signs of economy from his Government at this stage. There is nothing on the international horizon to justify an army very nearly at war strength. In this also the British taxpayer has an interest. He is the heaviest taxed individual in the world and the only prospect he has of France paying her debt to Great Britain, and thus promising him some relief, is a payment of $20,000,000 this year—not enough to induce Mr. Churchill to cut the present sale.

ONLY HALF THE BATTLE

A SUGGESTION THAT THE UNITED States is ready to advocate a "startling" scheme for the reduction of naval armaments shows the republic's willingness to do its share towards removing some of the chief causes of war. Nor should there be any difficulty in getting the other nations to assent to such a proposal. But it is very doubtful if the effect of scrapping battleships would be other than economic. As implements of war in the offensive sense their usefulness is limited. In a few years' time they will be practically obsolete. A much more effective armament reduction scheme would be one that would have the elimination of chemicals and aircraft and submarines as its objective.

Unfortunately, however, the question at this stage of the world's progress is less a problem of material than of the mind. A condition which produces international friction and threats of war will also produce means of waging it. The drowning man does not turn to his swimming text book to discover what should be done under the circumstances. He grabs at anything that will assist him. So it is with a nation which considers it has right on its side—and what nation admits it is in the wrong? Good feeling between the peoples of the world will have to accompany any form of material disarmament if peace is to be insured. The best and only agency which bids fair to bring that about is the League of Nations. That is why its work ought to be supported by everybody.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ARE YOU EDUCATED?

From The Western Producer (Saskatoon)
A professor in the University of Chicago told his students he should consider them educated in the best sense of the word when they could say "yes" to every one of these questions:

- Has education given you sympathy with all the good causes and made you espouse them.
- Has it made you public-spirited?
- Has it made you a brother to the weak?
- Can you look an honest man or a pure woman in the face?
- Do you see anything to love in a little child?
- Will a lone dog follow you in the street?
- Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?
- Can you be happy alone?
- Can you look out on the world and see anything but dollars and cents?
- Can you look into a mud-puddle by the wayside, and see a clear sky?
- Can you look into the sky at night, and see beyond the stars?

HOW ABOUT RECORDING KOOTENAY'S HISTORY?

From The Nelson Daily News
How about a Kootenay Scientific and Historical Society? Is there not a place for an organization? Historically there is a wide field to be covered. Who is going to write the history of the West Kootenay? Of the East Kootenay? Or of individual districts such as the Shocan? Are the great figures of the past to be lost to this generation for want of an attempt at biography? Is any current history being written?

Literary talent is not wanting in the Kootenay. Possibly no territory has a greater percentage of college men and women, of Canada and other lands. Almost every active person has a hobby. Here is a first-class hobby for those who are interested in the recording of history, natural or human, and of progress. If a good number of the persons so interested would get together, to launch such an organization, which could permeate every part of the Kootenay by means of a corresponding membership, a very valuable work would come into being.

B. C. RAILROAD LANDS

From The Vancouver Province
Mr. Oliver does not deny that we got what we paid for; but he holds we paid too much. British Columbia, he has paid in cash her share of the $13,000,000 subsidy, and in giving lands as well, she is paying twice. A second point the premier makes is that even were it contended that we should contribute our proportion of land, 14,282,000 acres is far in excess of our share when the whole land grant was only 18,206,985 acres. British Columbia's fair contribution, based on mileage in the Province, would be only 2,143,922 acres. Thus the Province has a claim for the return of something over ten million acres.

Mr. Oliver makes no effort to show, as he could easily do, that British Columbia has, since the construction of the railroad, gone a great way toward paying for the line a third time in excessive mountain freight rates. This, of course, being a matter for the Railway Commission, could scarcely be brought into his memorandum. But it is an argument all the same.

STRATHCONA PARK

To the Editor:—It would be a great pity to allow the big timber to be logged at Strathcona Park. As the Hon. Mr. Pattullo says the young timber is quite pretty but the giants, once gone, can never, in our time, be replaced. Mr. Pattullo's figures are quite interesting. People like to be enlightened about such matters. But the most interesting figures of all would be the amounts the holders of that particular tract of timber paid into the public treasury for it. How much paid for the 40,875 acres leased and how much for the 697 acres Crown granted? If the holders of the timber are at all patriotic they should be willing to take their money back again, with reasonable interest, and release the property to the public, especially when it is to be used for such a laudable purpose.

It is to be earnestly hoped that Mr. Pattullo will make good the omission and take the people into his confidence in this matter. It would no doubt strengthen his hands in dealing with the timber men to have public opinion behind him. All the information is doubtless on file in his department, and it is a safe bet that the whole amount is much less than $450,000. The people have been led to believe that the timber still belongs to themselves; and that their Government has the right and the power to impose any conditions, regulations and payments on the lessees that it sees fit. It is consequently not to be expected that they will calmly submit to being held up for nearly half a million dollars whenever they decide to preserve a beauty spot from devastation.

"PEN KNIFE"

Although it is still a common practice to carry a penknife either in the pocket or on a chain, few realize the origin of the practice, or the name. Penknives were originally carried for the purpose of cutting points on quill pens—at one time the only common tool for writing. Later, of course, the knives were handy for sharpening lead pencils, but since the advent of the fountain pen they have almost lost any connection with their original use.

Canadian Questions and Answers

RUBBER EXPORTS

Q. What are rubber exports from Canada?
A. 1925 was marked as a year of phenomenal growth in the Canadian rubber industry, according to figures for the last fiscal year, 1925-26. In that period exports reached a record total of $2,672,165, an increase of almost seven millions above the figure for the previous year, when exports were valued at $1,823,945. The biggest item in the list of exports is pneumatic tire casings, which were exported to the value of $1,416,505. In the previous year export of this commodity totaled only $212,428. In the corresponding period a year ago.

INTERNATIONAL JOINT COMMISSION

Q. What is the International Joint Commission?
A. The International Joint Commission is, as its title indicates, an international tribunal of six members—three Canadian and three American. Under the terms of the Treaty of 1909 the commission is vested with a threefold jurisdiction. For certain classes of cases it sits as an international court; in fact, as a final court of appeal for the two countries. In that capacity it has disposed of a large number of applications, some originating in the United States, sometimes in Canada. The commission also becomes, under any other clause of the treaty, an investigatory body, to which either or both governments may refer questions arising along the common frontier for examination and report. In this sense the commission has dealt with such problems as the pollution of boundary waters, lake levels, deep waterways plans, etc.

SUFFRAGISTS TOO BUSY FOR RELIGION OR HOME SCIENCE

Paris Meeting Demands Instead Police Women and Aviators

Paris, June 7.—Domestic science and religion were voted by the International Women's Suffrage Alliance Saturday as unsuitable subjects for discussion by feminists. The demands for the creation of police women in all countries and equal rights for women aviators occupied the delegates.

Commandant Mary Allen, chief of the British "bobbyettes" in full regalia with mannish haircut, military boots and monocle, outlined the cause of the policewomen and seconded a resolution, which was unanimously passed, demanding that women be appointed in all countries with the full status and powers of policemen. They would be employed particularly in cases relating to women, children and young persons.

The minority desire to censure the International labor bureau of the League of Nations for its policy of protective legislation regarding women in industry, took the form of a resolution, which was twice retabled before it was passed. The resolution read:

"The International Women's Suffrage Alliance Congress holds that any international system of differential legislation based on sex, in spite of any temporary advantage, may develop into a very real tyranny, because of the segregation of women workers and by the imposition of fresh handicaps on their capacity as wage earners."

The wording of the resolution was presented by the German, Italian, United States and Swiss delegations, but the United States finally voted for it.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

SPEEDY AIDS FOR MOTHERS
The following leaflets, one or several, may be had by sending to this department a request for the ones wanted, accompanied by an envelope, with stamp attached (not sliding about inside)—and the full address, city and province, of the person who desires them. Almost all possible questions on the subjects handled have been anticipated and answered, so try what a leaflet will do before asking ordinary questions on the subjects. This is the quickest way of getting help on the subjects of:

"Pre-natal Care and Diet for the Nursing Mother," "Constipation," "Feeding and Weaning" (covering periods from seven months to three years), "Eczema," "Lactation," "Foreign Feeding," "Infants and Older Children," "Puzzling Problems" (discussing, dirt eating, cradle cap, vomiting, lime water, cod liver oil, orange juice and refractory children), "Various Questions" (teething, sleeping, thumb sucking, sitting and walking, training in cleanly habits and periods of nursing).

TWINS
Mrs. R. R. R.

It is more than likely that the expectant mother will be well aware before the children are born that she can expect twins. The doctor can tell this and the mother will likely know by her own unusual size.
Having twins is an inherited tendency. If there are no twins in your own or your husband's family it is very unlikely that you will be so blessed, even though your keen desire is to have twins.

STATIONARY WEIGHT
Mrs. C. G. R. writes:
My four-month-old baby only weighs eleven pounds. She weighed eight at birth and gained nicely for two months and for the last two months has neither gained nor lost.
She is terribly constipated and live in a small town it is impossible to get fresh vegetables, though I am not constipated myself.

ANSWER
It is more than possible that the constipation does not come from lack of fresh vegetables, but from the same cause that is keeping the baby at a stationary weight, and that is under nourishment. I should nurse the baby regularly once every three hours, and for from five to seven minutes, perhaps ten. Then give a complimentary feeding of one ounce of milk and the same of water. Give one and one-half ounces of each if the baby seems dissatisfied with smaller amount. Add one-fourth teaspoon of sugar to this amount. The extra nourishment and the sugar will both help the constipation.
You need not do without vegetables so long as a good grade of canned ones can be bought. You should eat fruits and vegetables daily, in fact twice daily, in order to be a perfectly successful nurse.

GUIDES' FETE AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE ATTRACTED CROWDS

Over 500 Saw Delightful Entertainment Saturday; His Honor Took Salute

Gorgeous sunshine, crowds of interested guests in bright Summer attire, with the beautiful grounds of Government House for a setting, all combined to make a brilliant success of the garden fete which was given by the Girl Guides of Victoria district on Saturday afternoon.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor opened the proceedings, and was accompanied by Miss Helen Mackenzie, recently appointed provincial president of Girl Guides, and by Mrs. W. C. Nichol, hon. provincial commissioner in Mrs. Kinloch, acting provincial commissioner, Mrs.
A. C. Burdick, Victoria, district commissioner, and Mrs. Gale, Saanich district commissioner.

His honor took the salute as the nine companies of the district marched past, colors flying, under command of the district captain, Miss Hilda Leighton, Victoria.
The girls, who have never made a better appearance or carried out more smartly the formation of the ceremonial honor, into the horseshoe, and delicately springing from their ambush in neighboring bushes came five packs of Brownies with wild yells, and forming a circle round His Honor and the commissioners proceeded to give their grand salute.

The Lieutenant-Governor in a brief speech of welcome congratulated the guides, and spoke of the neat execution of the march past and expressed the hope that he would have the pleasure of meeting them all again next year in the grounds of Government House. Mrs. Kinloch tendered a hearty vote of thanks in the name of guides, brownies and guiders, which they cordially endorsed.

GUIDE DISPLAYS
The guide displays which ensued included a splendid gymnastic exhibition of pyramid formation by St.
George's School, Company, musical march and a display of the 1st South Saanich Company, signalling game and Indian game by Sefton College Company, and a finely carved wood carving sword dance by the sea guides.

The Brownies held their "gambols" later, Gonzales Pack leading with a dainty dance and song descriptive of brownie life, and singing game, "Spiders and Flies." Esquimaux Pack announced themselves with the Esquimaux howl before giving a sing-song game, "Knights and Ladies," and song, "Little Brown Bird." Foul Bay Brownies appeared as flowers, each reciting a little verse.

MANY ATTRACTIONS
Besides preparing displays these busy young people had stalls placed in all sorts of nooks and corners of the grounds, on which were offered wares culminated to tempt purchas-annual meeting of the National Chapter, were observed throughout Canada yesterday. The local service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and was attended by Miss Helen Mackenzie, honorary provincial president, and Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. J. H. Hadden Gillespie, representing the Municipal Chapter, and many other members of the order.

The Provincial, Municipal and Primary standard bearers were also present, and during the service the standards were grouped near the chancel.

Rev. W. Ellis, M.A., principal of the Bible College of Vancouver, preached the sermon in the absence of Rev. Dr. Clay. Dr. Ellis gave a most inspiring address on "The Message of Empire," showing that the British ideal tended to the best national morality. He warned the hearers against the insidious propaganda contained in some of the foreign literature entering Canada, as tending to undermine allegiance to British ideals, and urged all patriotic citizens to be alert in peace time as they were in war time to guard the precious heritage of Empire.

Special music appropriate to the occasion was rendered by the choir under the direction of the organist, Jesse Longfield.

BARONESS' SUICIDE SEQUEL TO DUEL

Vienna Shocked by Tragedy
Following Affair in Higher Life

Vienna, June 5.—Details of the tragic suicide of the beautiful Baroness Klinger and the duel between her husband and her princely Russian suitor, Cyril Vladimirov Orloff, are slowly coming out. Viennese society is greatly shocked, as the story
recalls that of the Meyerling Castle
tragedy, which cost the life of Crown
Prince Rudolf.

That tragedy occurred in 1889, and was reported to have been the outcome of a quarrel between the Crown Prince and two foreign officers over the beautiful Orloff. The Orloffs are slowly coming out. Viennese society is greatly shocked, as the story
recalls that of the Meyerling Castle
tragedy, which cost the life of Crown
Prince Rudolf.

Baron Klinger, in the affair between him and Orloff, was shot in the lung.
Both men are reported to be in a serious condition. Various accounts are current as to the real nature of the engagement between Klinger and Orloff. One had it that Orloff fired the first shot and that Klinger repaid with a charge of buckshot from his hunting gun.

A Hungarian friend of Prince Or-loff's, Emmerich von Somogyi, who accompanied the prince to the scene, was arrested. It is learned that Orloff is a descendant of the famous feudal family of Orloffs of the Crimea, dating back to the Crimean war, of whom three handsome Orloff brothers were special favorites of Catharine the Great, who enriched them nobly. The Orloff family owned lit-

THESE WOMEN

By MALCOLM DUART

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

"Really, the chances are that what most of us are seeking is peace of mind—contentment. Some of us seek it one place and some another. None of us ever finds it anywhere except in the only place where contentment can exist—that's in one's own mind. You have to carry it with you."

They were fortunate in arriving at the playhouse between acts, so they were shown to their seats at once. They glanced over the programmes, and as the curtain rose, settled back to listen to the two great singers who were on the bill that night. Morton sat with his chin resting on his hand, his eyes fixed on the stage, his fingers upon his knee. The girl listened with her head thrown back, her eyes star-like as the strains of the world's greatest music master filled the auditorium. Both of them were enraptured with the music, as they rode back to their apartment.

"When a man listens to music like that he knows he has a soul, doesn't he?" Morton said, as he kissed the girl good-night.

A note, delivered by messenger, was awaiting Morton when he arrived at his Seattle office the next morning. It was from Nona.

"Dear," it began. "I simply must see you. I'll be rehearsing this afternoon and to-night, but I'll be at my apartment surely at ten o'clock this evening. Please come. It is as important to you as it is to me, Nona."

Morton shrugged his shoulders, tore up the note and threw it in a wastebasket. A clerk came in with a heap of documents and laid them on the desk.

"If anybody telephones me, except Miss Morton, tell them to call me to-morrow," Morton ordered. "I'm not in to anybody."

For the remainder of the day he buried himself in the mass of statistical reports the clerk had given him. There were columns upon columns of figures, in dollars and cents, and percentages, with marginal notes in the left margin, some of a trained engineer. As Morton finished with each report, he laid it in one of three baskets that lay before him, labeled "Mines" and "Transport" and "Personnel." Toward evening, with a pad of notes before him, he talked into a dictating machine for an hour or more. Then, leaving the cylinder and the apparatus in their paper cartons, he went home.

He dined with Audrey, talked over the evening paper with her, and at nine-thirty laid her head on his shoulder and watched until her door was closed and took up his overcoat and hat, leaving the apartment quietly.

It was only a half-hour's walk to the apartment house where Nona lived and Morton did not call a car. It was just ten o'clock when he stepped up his name by the negro telephone operator in the hallway, and another minute the door of Nona's apartment opened to admit him.

He stood in the doorway looking around. The room was a bright one, done in shades of rose and gold. A small upright piano stood against the wall. On top of it were the portraits of two or three girls, made by theatrical photographers, and Morton's own picture. A long table, opposite the piano, was covered with moving picture and theatrical magazines. There were three or four leather chairs, two deep arm-chairs upholstered in rose silk, and a lounge, covered with stiff gold brocade.

Nobody was visible in the room. Morton took another step forward, and looked behind the door, which still stood open. As he did so, the door closed. A strange young woman stood there.

"I'm sorry," she said. "Nona will be here pretty soon. She said for you to wait."

Morton inspected her. She wore a long fur coat, which she had fastened closely about her throat, but from beneath the coat peeped the lower edge of a kimono. A pair of "mules" was on her feet, and her ankles were bare.

"I was going to stay with Nona to-night," she explained. "Won't you take off your overcoat?"

Morton shook his head. He had not taken his eyes from her. "I don't think I'll stay," he said.

The girl moved away from him a little. "Please stay," she said. "Nona told me that she wanted to see you about something terribly important, and she is in a dreadful frame of mind. Really, I think it would be better if you stay."

"All right," Morton took off his overcoat and laid it on the floor, and then, with his hat and stick, on the lounge. The girl picked them up and carried them into another room. Morton watched her, thoughtfully.

"Wouldn't you be more comfortable in this big chair?" she asked, when she came back. Morton was sitting on the light gilt piano stool.

"You'd better," she persisted, as Morton made no move. "That stool broke down yesterday, and it may do it again."

Morton moved over to the large chair and sat down. He lost sight of the girl.

Without Salves or Cutting
Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard had first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonard tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside application. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Vancouver Drug Co. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you. (Adv.)

of the young woman for a moment, as she stepped behind him.

When she reappeared her fur coat was off and only her kimono covered her thin shoulders.

Morton started to arise but she perched herself on the arm of his chair, pushing him backward with the pressure of her palm upon his forehead. Bending over, she laughed into his face.

The light in the apartment went out and as suddenly flashed on again. A huge young man was coming into the room.

Morton leaped to his feet, thrusting the young woman from him. The young man towered over him.

"So you're the guy, eh?" he roared. Turning to the girl he seized her by the arm. "So this is what you're doing!"

"He's sorry," she said. "We were facing Morton side by side."

Morton took a step backward and then another. After a moment's survey of the couple before him he smiled, slowly. Deliberately turning his shoulder to them, he felt in his pocket for his cigarette case, opened it, took a cigarette and lit it.

"Now go on with the story," he told them.

The young man hesitated. The girl, though, threw her arms around her companion and hid her face.

"Oh, Joe, I'm so sorry," she wailed. "I'm sorry. How did you know I was here?"

"I've been following you every night you went out," the young man said, fixing his eyes on Morton. "Now I've found out who you've been meeting. I'm going to have you both pinched."

Morton, puffing at his cigarette, eyed them quietly. The girl stole a glance at him and then clung closer to the large young man.

"I'm so sorry," Morton said. "I'm so sorry," she repeated.

The man took her by the arm and set her to one side. Then he advanced menacingly upon Morton.

"You've got to pay for this or you're going to be in a ditch, right?" he said menacingly. Morton tilted back his head and laughed. The young man was so near him that there was not room for a forward step, but Morton placed his fingers lightly on the other's chest and the man moved backward. Morton stroled to the end of the room, ran the shade curtain up, and stood looking into the dark street below.

"When you folks have finished with your little melodrama just let me know," he said over his shoulder. The man and woman looked at one another uncertainly. "Tackle him again, Joe," she whispered.

He advanced toward Morton. "Are you going to come across or am I going to call a cop?" he said, his voice raised.

Morton turned. "I'm not going to come across, and you're not going to call a cop," Morton flicked the ash from his cigarette and continued. "I believe they used to call this 'badger game'."

The man and woman stood looking at Morton. "The idea is to get some money. Well, you don't get it."

Uncle Wiggily and Arabella's Egg

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was all ready to go adventuring one morning, and was standing on the steps of his hollow stump bungalow, when along came crowing Charlie Chick, the rooster boy.

"Cock-a-doodle-doo!" cried Charlie. "Oh, you ought to see Uncle Wiggily! It's just wonderful!"

"What is so wonderful?" asked the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink eyes. "Do you mean the weather? For surely this is a beautiful day!"

"No, it's Arabella's first egg," crowed Charlie. "She has just laid her first egg! She wants you to come and see it!"

"Oh, surely I will do that!" said Mr. Longears. "Going adventuring is very important for me, of course, but seeing Arabella's first egg is even more so. Run along, Charlie, I'll be right over to your coop!"

Uncle Wiggily paused long enough to the good news to his wife and Nurse Jane, Puffy Wuxxy, and then away he hopped over the fields and through the woods to the chicken coop house.

"Uncle Wiggily must feel very proud," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "The first egg laid by a little hen, is just the same, to her, as it would be for me."

MEXICAN CAPTAIN GIVES DETAILS OF LIQUOR SEIZURE

Clara French Infringed Mexican Customs Laws; Blow to Rum Runners

San Diego, Cal., June 7.—Complete details of the seizure of the Canadian rum runner Clara French, by the Mexican patrol steamer Teate, were given yesterday by Capt. Leopoldo Angulo, master of the Teate, when the patrol steamer put in for water and supplies. The Teate was cruising off the Coronado Islands Friday morning when a schooner was sighted close to the shore of the south island. Capt. Angulo sent the Teate alongside the other craft and it was found to be the Clara French of Vancouver, a Mexican skipper asked Capt. G. M. Harwood of the Clara French where the liquor came from. Capt. Harwood indicated that it came from a large vessel, the name of which he seemed to have forgotten. Neither he or members of the crew seemed to know where the liquor belonged to. The Clara French was directed to proceed to Ensenada under escort of the Teate and arrived there late Friday. Mexican authorities confiscated the cargo for evading the customs laws and the crew was thrown in jail. The seizure of the Clara French was the first of its kind in history and is a blow to rum runners who have been using the Coronado Islands as a rendezvous.

Vancouver, June 7.—The Clara French, seized off the Coronado Islands Friday morning, was formerly the fifty-foot gas fishing boat Milke, built at Vancouver in 1919, and was purchased by her present owners, James Jeffrey Craven Walker and James F. Matthews, this year.

A Feathered Murderer

By ARTHUR N. PACK

The blood-stained cockatoo, a native of Australia, is so-called because its otherwise white plumage is given variation by a few rusty feathers about the neck and face.

The whiteness of its attire is marred almost always by the dirt encountered in its feeding on the ground and digging for roots and other food, such as fruit and seeds.

It shows marked preference for the kernel of the canary nut which grows on a lofty forest tree. The very hard shell of the nut is cut by a sawing motion of the parrot's lower bill.

The very long and sharp-pointed bill is used in advantage in picking out the kernel which is seized, morsel by morsel, by the extended tongue.

Unlike many birds in destroying the young of their host, the cockatoo spares these inhabitants of the nest when the new quarters are captured from the gale, a well-known parrot of Australia.

This may show the wisdom of the cockatoo because thereby the

TWO MARU LINERS DUE TO ARRIVE HERE TO-MORROW

One day ahead of her schedule the Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorship Asuka Maru, Capt. Tomita, will arrive at the William Head quarantine station to-morrow night at 6 o'clock from the Orient. For Victoria the vessel has 117 tons of general cargo. Thirty-three bags of mail will be put off to the Asuka is carrying one cabin passenger.

The Asuka Maru of the Onaka Shosen Kaisha, will reach William Head early to-morrow morning but no time of arrival has been received by the local agents.

chances of the tribe of young cockatoos are increased for future profit. Usually birds, on appropriating nests of others that they overcome, clear out the acquired home before setting up housekeeping for themselves.

Many parrots like to strip the bark from branches of trees, and the cockatoo frequently betrays the loss of its nest because of this fondness.

However, a nest is not always its habitation, when in the wet season, mainly August and September, the bird decides to nest. A hollow in a tree is its first choice, but if this is not available, it contents itself with a cavity among the rocks or the broken top of a large ant hill. In this case the cockatoo builds no nest, but the eggs, two to four in number, are laid on the floor of the unlined cavity which is its abode.

VANCOUVER TOWING COMPANIES MERGE

New Concern Will be Known as Pacific Coyle Navigation Company, Limited

Vancouver, June 7.—Consolidation of the leading tug and barge interests of the port of Vancouver, whose total assets total $2,743,900, is announced in a prospectus issued to-day by the new concern which is registered as the Pacific (Coyle) Navigation Company Limited.

The following companies have been acquired as going concerns: Coyle Towing Company Limited, Hecate Straits Towing Company Limited, Pacific Tug and Barge Company, the common stock of the British Pacific Barge Company Limited and other independently-owned tugs.

These companies comprise some of the oldest established towing and barge companies on the North Pacific coast with a record of successful operation, in some cases of over twenty years.

The merger will undoubtedly control a large proportion of the local and coastwise towing and barge business, as under one head will be operated a fleet of eighteen tugs, thirteen barges and nine scows, while in addition the company will have a good wharves, booming grounds and all general equipment required for operation.

The provisional directors have been furnished with the company's financial statement showing the consolidation of approximately $40,000 per annum on overhead alone.

The operation of the towing fleet is one of the port's essential utilities, serving the lumber, coal, pulp and paper and fishing industries of the adjacent inland waters, and the amalgamation of interests has been brought about in order to keep pace with the growing port development now taking place in the harbor.

Fishermen's Strike Has Been Averted

THREE STEAMERS LOAD LUMBER HERE

Rathlin Head, Eurana and Canadian Highlander at Outer Wharves

Three lumber vessels are loading at Victoria to-day. Last night at 10 o'clock the steamship Eurana docked at Rithet's Pier and commenced to take on 600,000 feet of lumber this morning, while at 10 o'clock this morning the St. Rathlin Head berthed at Ogden Point to take on a lumber cargo consigned to the Atlantic seaboard.

The Puruss Pacific motorship Pacific Shipper will not reach William Head until 4 o'clock to-morrow morning from the United Kingdom. The vessel sailed from San Francisco on Friday night, and was due to reach here early this morning, but on the way up the coast the liner ran into stormy headwinds and has been delayed.

Running in the service of the French line the steamer Iowa is due to arrive here to-morrow from Anacortes, with approximately 150 tons of sugar for discharge at this port. King Brothers are acting as agents for vessel here.

The Canadian Highlander of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine arrived here yesterday morning from Vancouver, and after taking on a lumber cargo here she departed from the Ogden Point docks this afternoon for New Westminster. The vessel will sail for the United Kingdom in a few days.

Ruth Alexander Inaugurates New Summer Schedule

Inaugurating the new Summer schedule the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander sailed for California ports yesterday morning at 9 o'clock with a good passenger list. About eighty passengers boarded the liner at this port.

In future the Pacific Steamship Company's liner will sail for the South on Sunday mornings, and will arrive here from California on Thursday evenings.

Rotation of Crop Equals Fertilizer

"In the practice of crop rotation the farmer has at his command a means whereby he can materially increase the output of his land and reduce acre costs," says W. W. Weir, soil specialist of the Department of Agriculture.

That fact may not be startling to many farmers, for they are already using crop rotation in their farm management system to a large extent. It may be surprising, however, to learn that crop rotation is nearly as effective as farm manures and complete commercial fertilizers in increasing and maintaining soil productivity.

PRACTICAL TEST

Take the yield of wheat, for example, in a series of tests over a long period of years. Mere cultivation of the soil, without the addition of fertilizers or the use of crop rotation, gave an average yield of 12.3 bushels. When commercial fertilizers were added to the practice, the yield was increased by 11.3 bushels; when rotation of crops was practiced and no fertilizers were added, the yield increased by 11.7 bushels. Thus it is seen that crop rotation slightly exceeded the increase secured by fertilizers.

When both these practices were added, the increase in yield amounted to 20.2 bushels, nearly equal the sum of each each separate practice.

LIQUOR RUNNER'S LAUNCH DESTROYED

"Spray" Burns to Waters Edge After Capture; Believed Wired to Catch Fire

Youngstown, Pa., June 7.—The launch The Spray, an alleged rum runner, was burned to the water's edge on Lake Ontario early yesterday and George H. Cochran, president of this village, who is also a deputy sheriff, and Captain George Ferguson, in charge of the lighthouse at Fort Niagara, who were on board, barely escaped with their lives. Launch and cargo were valued at $14,000. There is suspicion that the craft was wired to catch fire if caught.

The Spray was captured on the shore between Youngstown and William while a gang of alleged alcohol smugglers were loading it with contraband destined for Canada. Four members of the gang were arrested and Captain Ferguson and Cochran were assigned to take the launch to the lifesaving station. They were about four miles offshore when fire suddenly broke up from the hold and enveloped the boat in flames.

SAVES 60 LIVES—Thomas Hilsop, a farmer at the Mt. Lookout colliery, Wyoming, Pa., risked his life to rescue 60 miners trapped behind a fire raging in a shaft 250 under ground. He got all out safely.

Dates For Hearing of Freight Rates Question Are Set

Toronto, June 7 (Canadian Press).—The Board of Railway Commissioners announced this morning that three definite dates have been fixed for hearing of the general freight rates question in Western Canada. The first of the sittings in the prairie provinces will be at Winnipeg on June 14, while hearings will also take place at Regina on June 21 and at Edmonton on June 28. Further dates of western sittings will be named shortly.

Chief Commissioner McKeown and other members of the board leave for the west on Saturday evening next. They will proceed gradually to the Pacific Coast, holding hearings en route.

Rotation of Crop Equals Fertilizer

and almost three times the amount secured by cultivation alone.

"These experimental results throw new light upon the problems of our future food supply," says Weir, "and depend upon the cultivation of the soil for at least one-third of our corn, wheat and oats produce, taken collectively."

"By crop rotation is meant, in general, the growing of different kinds of crops in recurring succession on the same land. A rotation that is best suited to the conditions of a soil and to the characteristics of the crops grown, and from which a farmer may realize maximum benefits, may be called a proper rotation."

Premier Lost When Pioneers Join in Old-Time Frolics

As Grand March Leader He Proves a Better Premier, Old-timers Aver

Leading the grand march at the old-timers' big reunion in Langley Saturday night, Premier Oliver and his partner, Mrs. A. D. Paterson, missed their way and were soon utterly lost in the crowd which they were supposed to guide in the good old-fashioned way.

The Premier told the story on himself when he returned here yesterday after meeting hundreds of his old friends from various parts of the Fraser Valley. Friends of the Premier who watched him vainly trying to sort out the dancing throngs admitted that he was a better leader than he seemed to be at the grand marches. Finally, in fact, he gave up in despair and retired with his partner to a haven of safety out of reach of the wheeling crowd. They danced the real old-time steps.

Farmers from all over the Fraser Valley, some of whom the Premier had not seen for twenty years or more, gathered at the Langley reunion to talk over the early days of British Columbia and to take part in festivities exactly like those with which the pioneers used to amuse themselves.

D. Watson, second witness called, attributed the cause of the collision to the speed of the larger car.

Martin Chue, driver of the second car in the case, said that the defendant's machine was being driven at a rate of between twenty-five and thirty miles per hour, that he had thought, having the right of way, the accused would allow him to pass and had consequently speeded up at the intersection in order to cross without forcing Davies to halt. His own car, he said, was traveling at only about fifteen to twenty miles per hour, he testified.

Harold E. White, land surveyor, was called to testify as to the length of skid marks made by the respective cars. The fact that those of Davies' car were longer than those of the other machine, as stated by him, clashed with the testimony of the next witness, Evan Davies, brother of the accused, who said that when the car in which he was riding came to the intersection it was going about ten miles per hour.

D. S. Tait appeared for the defendant, C. L. Harrison prosecuted. His honor, having heard the evidence, adjourned the case until June 9.

Twenty Chinese, including one man charge as keeper, taken in a police raid at a set of rooms in the second story of 416-418 Cormorant Street, were charged in the city police court this morning as inmates of a common gaming house. H. A. Clachman, K.C., appeared for the defendants and the case was remanded until to-morrow morning.

An enjoyable evening was spent by all who attended the weekly dance held in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening. There was a good crowd present, and Ray Kinlock's three-piece orchestra provided the music. An excellent supper was served during the evening, and dancing continued until 1 o'clock. The next dance will take place on Friday evening, June 11.

HIS FAMILY BROKE

MONTE CARLO

What must it feel like to have in your family a man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo? And still more than that, the man who hit the baccarat game at Cannes this last January so hard that the Frenchmen there are still dizzy and the cashiers have not yet fully recovered from counting out his winnings.

The man who can answer these questions is in Victoria to-day on a quiet holiday at the Empress Hotel with his wife. He is A. R. de Beer, publisher of the New York City, who from a Canadian school boy and college youth has become an international figure.

FROM UPPER CANADA COLLEGE AND MCGILL

Mr. de Beer is partner and publisher for Hugh Fullerton, the noted baseball and other sports writer, and one of the editors of Liberty and The Chicago Tribune publications. His book, "Racing Yarns," dedicated to Major August Belmont, has just been published by Mr. de Beer.

In 1893-94 Mr. de Beer was a pupil at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and he was graduated from McGill University, Montreal, in the class of 1898-99. At Upper Canada College his tutor was Stephen Leacock who has since become world famous as a humorous writer. William Allen Neilson, who has since become president of Smith College, the largest women's college in the world, was also a pupil of Mr. de Beer's at Upper Canada College.

Mr. de Beer is now on his way across Canada to see Stephen Leacock.

Sir Thomas Clarke of St. Catharines, Ont., one of Canada's most beloved surgeons, is the Victoria visitor's uncle.

When it comes to the sporting side of the club the fastest shiner, Mr. de Beer, with other members of his family of Diomedes, the fastest race horse in England, now retired to the stud. They also own the noted

"S.W. is called the greatest baccarat player in Europe," Mr. de Beer said this morning when asked about the family secret of being on the right side of luck. "It is not really so much luck in his case. He is during his great playing is ascribed to his powerful memory."

"This Victoria is a wonderful place, with a distinctive atmosphere," Mr. de Beer went on, "its beauty, its easy-going ways, and its liberty."

VICTORIA FILMED FOR BEAUTY AND PRAISED FOR GIRLS

Movies of Scenes Here Sent South to be Added to Travel Collection

Victoria was well filmed during the week-end as a result of the liking that James W. Coffroth, the millionaire racing car, owner of the Victoria and predecessor of Tex Rickard, fight and sports promoter, took to this city. Mr. Coffroth's party was accompanied by a moving picture camera in charge of a secretary, and this machine was focused and put into operation on many of the beauty spots of the city and district, such as the gardens around the Empress Hotel and Parliament Buildings, Butchart's, and scenes from the roof of the Empress Hotel.

"Coming across to Nanaimo on the ferry and on the Malahat down the island, we were so impressed that we kept the movie camera going a large part of the time," Mr. Coffroth said.

The films are being sent to San Francisco to be developed and will be added to the collection-Mr. Coffroth is making for exhibition of the beauty spots of the world. Some of the recent scenes he had taken on this film series were from Florida, Victoria reels will be added to those of Florida.

To the Coffroth private museum in San Diego, which has trophies and interesting souvenirs from all parts of the world, including the Orient, there is being added a souvenir of Victoria in the form of an Indian totem pole.

"I had been looking for something distinctive of this part of the Coast since we crossed into British Columbia," Mr. Coffroth said. "We didn't find anything special in Vancouver, but we found this totem pole in Victoria and it is going down south with the name of this city."

"We like your climate, we like your scenery, we like your friendliness and we like your liberty," Mr. Coffroth added.

OUR GIRLS COMMENTED

Miss Julia Beatty, a well-known southern beauty, who was with the Coffroth party, said that she had been much interested in the girls of Victoria.

"On the street, around the hotels and at the dances at the Empress Hotel last Friday night, we were much impressed with the fact that very little rouge, powder or other make-up is used by the girls of Victoria," Miss Beatty said. "The difference in the complexion of the Victoria girls was quite noticeable to us coming here straight from Vancouver, Seattle and other cities of the coast where the girls load themselves down with paint and powder. Although I never use any cosmetics, most girls say that they have to make use of them in the warmer climate down South. Without rouge and powder your Victoria girls seem much fresher."

MADE KLONDYKE SCOOP HERE

One of the other members of the Coffroth party to talk about Victoria was Charles T. Kreling. In the early '30s Mr. Kreling was light weight wrestling champion of North America. During the time he held the belt, he was in many contests up and down the coast. He is the only member of the Coffroth party who had been in Victoria before.

"And I well remember my experience in this city the last time I was here," Mr. Kreling said. "I spent a couple of hours in your jail."

"It came about this way: It was at the time of the Klondyke rush and I was up from San Francisco over the Chilcot Pass for The San Francisco Examiner and The New York Journal. I came out with the discovery story and to make things more interesting, on the way south on the boat three of the Klondikers died from what was said to be scurvy and they had thousands in gold dust on their persons. Victoria was the first port of call from the North, in those days, and when we came in the harbor here I had everything written ready to file on the telegraph wire to San Francisco and New York. But as we docked, they placed the boat under quarantine and would allow no one off. I took a chance, however, and jumped to the dock. With police and customs officers behind me I ran up Wharf Street and headed up town. I was before the days of the automobile, and as luck would have it my direction took me right past the old C.P.R. telegraph office. I rushed in and threw my copy to the operator. The officers were right behind me and arrested me, taking me to the city lock-up. But I succeeded in getting my story off on the wire and beating the other newspaper reporters, who were on the boat."

Mr. Kreling spent the week-end playing on the Oak Bay and Uplands golf links.

The other members of the party said that eighteen months ago, Mr. Kreling was insulted by anyone who suggested golf to him, a former lightweight champion, but now that he has taken it up he has been making up for lost time, playing thirty-six to forty-five holes on the courses in every city on the trip north.

THE "COHENS AND KELLYS" BRING GALES OF LAUGHTER

Universal-Jewel Comedy-Drama at Dominion Theatre

This Week Features Vera Gordon, Who First Stepped Into Screen Limelight in "Humoresque"

"The Cohens and Kellys," Universal-Jewel film now showing at the Dominion Theatre, is a delicious comedy-drama.

The audience is stilled by the pathos of the drama and in turn is plunged into hilarious merriment by the scintillating comedy.

As the fiery Irish policeman, Charlie Murray has given one of the performances of rare skill for which he is noted. Comedy and not a little real acting fall to him during the picture.

Harry Potard, the director, was careful that the picture should at no time approach slap-stick and there is no hint of that type of humor. Rather the story is a serious heart drama with a goodly dose of comedy thrown in by the clever acting and the intelligent directing—so much comedy, in fact, that the picture is labelled as a comedy-drama.

Vera Gordon first became prominent because of her role in "Humoresque." That was an exceedingly dramatic part. "The Cohens and Kellys" proves that she is also gifted with the ability to tinge her acting with subtle comedy touches.

An exceptionally appealing father is played by George Sidney, while Kate Price does her best comedy work as the wife of Murray.

Two very appealing newcomers have the romantic leads in the picture. They are Jason Robards, and Olive Hasbrouck.

The story is clever. It is Aaron Hoffman's stage play transported to the screen. An Irish and Jewish family are neighbors in the East side of New York City. They have never

This famous aggregation of musicians is undoubtedly one of the best all-around orchestras that has so far visited British Columbia.

Every man is a first-class soloist and an artist. They individually also play numerous instruments, using that particular combination of instruments for which each number calls for, giving a variety of tonal color to each musical composition which is most effective and pleasing.

"Why Girls go Back Home" is Warner Picture

Patsy Ruth Miller is Central Figure At Playhouse Show

Few of the spectators seated in the audience of a modern high class metropolitan theatre watching the presentation of a revue or musical comedy realize the vast, hidden machinery necessary to its operation.

Moving picture audiences get a comprehensive idea of this in the behind the scenes sequences of Warner Bros' production, "Why Girls Go Back Home," featuring Patsy Ruth Miller and Olive Brook, and directed by James Flood, now at the Playhouse Theatre.

Consider the lighting of the stage and house alone. Before him in the wings, where he can command a view of the stage, the master electrician stands before high panels covered with rows and rows of switches, large and small, like the complicated keyboard of some great instrument.

In a complicated review such as is shown in "Why Girls Go Back Home," with Patsy Ruth Miller as the central figure, the lighting effects are complicated and difficult, and the composed and methodical master-electrician must have a score as complicated as that of the orchestra leader to insure that every switch that should be, will be closed or opened and at exactly the right moment. Not infrequently, he must have a couple of assistants to help him when he really needs four or six long arms instead of two short ones.

Reginald Hincks presents "The Miracle Master," as the stage feature Mrs. Craigflower (Vivien Combe) has a garden party, but she does not let that interfere with her usual squabbles with Mr. Craigflower (Ernie Petch). The laughs are fast and furious.

Sporting Play Will Thrill at Coliseum To-day

"The Hottentot," Famous On Both Stage and Screen, Here This Week

The "Hottentot" was not a lady's horse, but he could gallop and jump. In fact, in the hands of anyone but an expert the trouble was to keep him from galloping and jumping—especially jumping.

The "Hottentot" is entered for a steeplechase, but there is no one who is brave enough or foolhardy enough to offer to ride him. Then commences the troubles of Sam Harrington whose name unfortunately is the same as that of a famous gentleman rider who has gained fame for his skilful and fearless riding. Sam had not ridden a horse for many years, not since he met with an accident which lost him his nerve—but he is very much in love which probably accounts for some of the foolish things he does, including his determined offer to ride the "Hottentot" while his heart trembled at the very sound of a horse's hoofs along the road.

"The Hottentot" is a fascinating play with lots of real horsey people and the atmosphere of sport and the language of the stables. It is one of the most popular of sporting plays full of humorous situations and clever comedy, and those who know the painstaking way in which the Coliseum plays are put on can confidently expect a production which will be a real treat, especially to those who are horse lovers and enjoy the sport of kings.

Sporting plays are always popular and this famous racing comedy will be appreciated by those who like a play combining a real thrill with a little romance and a lot of fun.

"The Hottentot" will doubtless prove to be one of Ed. Redmond's best presentations and will be a major attraction for the whole of the week.

To-night the Coliseum management is staging a dividend night with a big bonus, details of which are advertised.

War Veterans in Filming of "Havoc" Fox Picture Here

Canadian, English and Scotch Regiments Represented in Columbia Film

Sixteen honor regiments of England, Canada and Scotland were represented in the 200 war veterans who took part in the battle sequences of "Havoc" the William Fox screen version of the celebrated stage play, directed by Rowland V. Lee, which opens a three-day run at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Replete in accurate details, these battle scenes are declared by a corps of war experts who supervised them to be the most authentic of the kind that have ever been put on the screen.

Col. Everett Ford, 91st Divisional Artillery, U.S.A., acted as technical director on the picture and Major Harold Harcourt of Princess Patricia's own Canadian regiment, supervised the building of trenches and the equipment of the British troops. Two ex-German army officers say that the Teuton troops were properly outfitted.

Among the regiments represented by veterans, every man of whom had won at least one medal of honor, some of them six, were the Princess Pata, 77th Seaforth Highlanders, Royal Canadian Dragoons, Scots Guards, Argyll, Sutherlands, the most famous Scottish regiment in the war; 47th Canadian Infantry, Fourth Canadian Mounted Rifles, 78th Canadian Grenadiers, 3rd Toronto Infantry, 102nd Canadian Infantry and six London regiments, in addition to ex-Royal Navy men who later served in the trenches, aviation corps, trench service troops. Five commissioned officers were among the veterans.

Edmund Goulding, who adapted "Havoc" for the screen, is a veteran of the British Intelligence Service, and received a baptism of fire such as no other man now interested in motion pictures. Rowland V. Lee, the director, served first as a private with the American forces abroad and won the commission of Lieutenant while at the front.

"The Palm Beach Girl" is Current Capitol Offering

All Miami, Florida Boom City, Eager to Play in This Film

Miami, where "go-getters" congregate, where drawing a crowd has been reduced to a science saw its own methods improved upon during the recent visit there of Bebe Daniels' Paramount Company making "The Palm Beach Girl," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Even the hard-boiled realtors gasped.

Director Erle Kenton decided one afternoon that he would like to have 200 extras the next morning at 3.30 o'clock. He told his assistants to get them.

Col. Daniel J. Duffy, old-time actor and retired real estate operator, was called into consultation. Certainly! He would get them. It would be easy. Just leave it to him. They did.

That night some of the members of Miss Daniels' unit who were attending the concert of Arthur Pryor's band in Royal Palm Park were astonished during the intermission to see Col. Duffy take the exact spot on the stage left vacant by Mr. Pryor. He began an impassioned speech on the beauties of Miami. His emotion grew. Citizens must rally to the aid of a noble effort to help advertise their glorious town, he told them.

Miss Daniels was in town, he went on. She needed 200 of Miami's handsomest men and prettiest women for her picture. Would they report at the city dock the next morning at 3 o'clock?

Director Kenton looked at the assembly at 3.30 o'clock. He took Col. Duffy to one side in alarm.

"I said 200," he explained. "I don't want to hire the entire population of the city."

The colonel wasn't disturbed. He carefully picked 200, made another speech thanking the others for their civic pride, and the day's work began.

Vancouver's Musical Festival

Greater Values Obtained; Precedents Established; Western Talent on High Pinnacle

By G.J.D.

The fourth B.C. Musical Competition has come and gone. With its many events, lasting from Monday, May 31, to Saturday, June 5, there came the innate joy to the victor, accompanied no doubt by the disappointment of the loser. But with these inevitabilities such an event is a blessing to music, and of inestimable value to its cause. And, besides, proving even greater in success than its three predecessors, it has made not only musical history in the West but it has created precedents that have not been hitherto established in the whole Dominion.

One example is the fact that nearly sixty school choirs were in competition in one day; another, that there were nearly 3,000 competitors, and still another is that five or more "contracts" nearly succeeded in obtaining the highest possible marks.

Not only has this year proved larger in entries, keener in interest, bigger in attendance—their evening concerts were crowded to the doors greater spontaneity in applause, and mightier in achievement, but it has demonstrated to a degree that the West has unusual, high-pinnaced and splendid talent, qualified to stand shoulder to shoulder with those in the high places of the great democratic and universal art of music.

Hugh S. Robertson, one of the famous Glasgow Orpheus, in the course of his invaluable, constructive and generously given adjudications said: "At no place have I found better choral work, and that here in these distant parts I have heard organizations ranking with the finest in Great Britain, with all its musical traditions."

The festival's sponsors, the Knights of Pythias, deserve the praise of Vancouver's community and must be congratulated upon the service they are thus rendering their fellow-citizens, and for the noble art of music.

Another feature which this fraternal order has accomplished, one that must not be overlooked, and was particularly noticeable to The Times representative, was the better understanding of the true value of a festival adjudicator's position.

In the four years since its inception it is doubtful if a more intelligent comprehension of the real significance of an adjudicator's judgments was better understood or accomplished than was the case throughout the past festival.

The elucidations of the real significance of the four adjudicators were of the highest import. All they said seemed to be so thoroughly worthwhile, so urgent to the contestant. Particularly with Hugh S. Robertson. Here was a judge, phenomenal of insight, fearless, straightforward, forcible, mincing nothing, picturing what ought to be in vivid colors, giving decisions in merciless style and weight of word, but delightful in humor, gentle of method, kindly in feeling, combined with the most intellectual musical comprehension, all proving a lesson of the utmost potency to both contestant and listener. No wonder was it, therefore, that many hundreds eagerly and delightedly accepted his decisions, and never failed to be present when his pronouncements were made.

Frank S. Weisman, too, created a festival atmosphere that will have its benefits for many a day to come. His judgments and illustrations were unfailingly beneficial, and both Clifford Higgins and Marion E. Crawford, M.A., were alike admirable in impressiveness and findings, the former valuably assisting in the juvenile classes, and the latter in the elocution competitions.

VANCOUVER NEEDS AUDITORIUM

It was to be regretted that plans at the last moment had to be made to accommodate the large crowds that were anticipated at the final evening concert on Saturday, and so it proved as it was estimated that over 6,000 people attended the concluding session in the Horseshow Building of the Hastings Park agricultural and exhibition buildings. At present the great and rapidly growing mainland city is sadly in need of a safe, comfortable and large auditorium, adequate and suitable for

Canada's Gifted Actress at Royal On Friday Next

Margaret Anglin to Appear Here in Somerset Maugham's "Caroline"

The appearance of Margaret Anglin, Canada's gifted actress, at the Royal Victoria Theatre Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12, with Saturday matinee, in her supreme and delightful comedy, "Caroline" by England's famous author, W. Somerset Maugham, who contributed "The Circle" and co-author of "Rain," is looked upon as one of the noteworthy events of the current theatrical season.

Margaret Anglin, the high character of whose service to the American stage has brought honor to the stage and glory and fame to herself, needs no introduction to the discriminating theatre-goer. She has played the sombre productions of the Greek ancients and is now phrasing the sparkling comedy of W. Somerset Maugham's brilliant offering, which is a capital vehicle for the scintillating intelligence of the admirable actress, who is equally at home in emotional roles or light comedy.

"Caroline" is decidedly clever and unusually delightful comedy. It is clean, wholesome and brilliant. Brimful of lines that are gems of sparkling wit, nothing that Mr. Maugham has ever penned can be compared to its refreshing style of attack.

The production is the last word in artistic touch. The gowns, especially those which Miss Anglin wears, are the most original and graceful ever conceived by the famous Tappe, of New York and Paris.

The personally chosen cast of excellence for which Miss Anglin is always noted includes Mary Daniel, Florence Walters, Elizabeth Rathburn, Clifford Walker, J. R. Toser and John Maroney.

FLAG COURTESY

London, Ont., June 7.—Great indignation at what he termed the flaunting of United States flags on tourist cars in Canada was expressed by Lieut.-General Sir Robert Turner V.C., who is attending a meeting of the Canadian Legion in this city. He said he was in favor of barring the use of the Stars and Stripes by the visitors unless there was a corresponding display of the Union Jack.

BASEBALL, BOXING

Battle of Southpaws
Results In Handsome Victory For Matson

Beasley, Defending Champ, Passes H. Comb Bowl Over to Handsome Jack

Players Kept Level Until the Fifteenth Hole After Which Beasley Fell Away

Art Beasley saw the Harvey Combe bowl, emblematic of the club championship of the Victoria Golf Club, pass out of his hands yesterday when Jack Matson rolled home to an 8 and 7 victory in the final.

This "battle of southpaws" was expected to prove much closer and a large gallery followed in anticipation of a thrilling struggle. For fifteen holes they watched the two youthful players going it nip and tuck, but Beasley began to fall away at this stage and Matson went on to an easy victory.

Matson won the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth holes, which left him three up when they broke off for luncheon.

On the resumption after both had taken on supplies, Matson continued to play the better golf and the match, which was to have been thirty-six holes, wound up on the twenty-ninth when Matson was eight up, but with seven holes left to be played.

SOUTHPAWS HAVE IT
It was the first time in the history of local golf that a pair of southpaws had competed in a final for a club championship. As far as the Victoria Golf Club is concerned the southpaws have it, as Beasley won the championship last year and has been succeeded by another player who has a hat to port. Ed. McQuade, of the Colwood Golf Club, present city champion, is also a southpaw.

Matson's victory was due to superior steadiness and a mastery of all his clubs. Following so closely upon his brilliant victory over Bon Stein, one of the outstanding amateur players in the Northwest, Matson yesterday elevates him to a high rating in golf. Matson gave golf a pleasant surprise a month ago when he defeated Stein in an eighteen-hole match during the team-match between Victoria and Seattle.

AFTER P.N.W. TITLE
Matson now has his eye set upon the Pacific Northwest amateur golf championship, which will be held in Spokane. Jack has made up his mind to journey to the inland town despite the heat reports and hopes to go a long way in the tournament, even if he cannot bring home the breakfast menu.

Neither Matson nor Beasley held out on all the holes and as a result complete cards were not kept of their match yesterday.

The other flights in the club championship have not been completed as yet.

YORKSHIRE STILL IN
AT LUNCHEON; TEST
MATCH PROGRESSING

Bradford, Eng., June 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—Yorkshire continued its innings today in its cricket match with the touring Australian team. At luncheon the County had lost eight wickets for 132 runs. On Saturday, Australia scored 177 and Yorkshire was 65 for one wicket.

London, June 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—At lunch time today the score in the cricket test match was:
The Rest—first innings—211.
England—first innings—138 for five; Hobbs, not out, 65.

Nottingham, Eng., June 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—Thirty thousand spectators turned out on Saturday for the trial match on the result of which will depend the selection of the side that will represent England at Trent Bridge against the touring Australian cricketers next Saturday. The game was staged between "England" and "The Rest." The sides were captained by A. W. Carr of Nottingham, and P. G. H. Fender of Surrey, respectively.

Fender won the toss and elected to bat first. The side was dismissed for 211 runs to which K. S. Duleep-singh, Cambridge and Sussex, contributed 51.

England went to bat and played for 40 minutes in which time they lost three wickets for 38 runs. England's opening was disastrous. Holmes, Yorkshire, was retired for three. Woolley, Lancashire, made 11. When time was called Jack Hobbs, Surrey, and Livsey, Hants, were at bat, with their respective scores standing at 2 and 13.

Eagles Will Attempt To Flap Themselves
To Victory To-night

Ross and Saunders Will Meet on Mound in Amateur Baseball; Expect Good Game

The Eagles are getting decked out in their best feathers and are sharpening their beaks in order to take a few pecks at the Travelers to-night. They will take the field at the Royal Athletic Park determined to hang up their first victory of the season at the Travelers' expense.

Percy Ross has been selected to twirl for the Eagles. The Travelers will have a hard time seeing Percy's swift twirl.

Ross Miller is the latest addition to the feathered tribe's lineup. In their effort to do something in the league the Eagles have had their manager scouting around to dig up snappy material. Miller is a smooth player and the Eagles look for him to deliver, especially at the bat.

The Eagles will swing at a port-side. "Lefty" Saunders will shoot them over for the Eagles. "Lefty" can't hit, but he has a very wonderful arm. He will attempt to get a feather in his cap from the Eagles' wings.

"Albie" McGregor will umpire. The game will commence at 6:15 o'clock.

Y.M.C.A. Cinch Place In Intermediate Ball Play-off; Beat C.P.R.
Again the lucky seventh came to the aid of the Y.M.C.A. intermediate ball fencers. Going into the seventh inning the Y.M.C.A. were leading the C.P.R. by 13 runs to 12. This gives the association team the championship of the first half of the season.

Until their final inning "Cah" Collins hit a great ball for the railroads, allowing the two sides to hit. Poor fielding, however, was sufficient to let in five runs for the "Y" during the early sessions. The C.P.R. commenced scoring in the first with two tallies and runners crossed the plate in every inning but the second. In the latter half of the seventh the railroads made a desperate bid for victory and shoved across five runs just one short of the number required to tie the score.

Both hurlers struck out five batters. The game may be protested by the C.P.R.

Beek refereed and the teams were: Y.M.C.A.—B. Killick, Rowland, H. Killick, Turgoose, Lemm, Barbour, Rose, Le Marquand, Bacchus and Newell.
C.P.R.—Little, Terry, Delahanty, Beek, Cudlip, Stafford, Monteki, Hume and Collins.

Won Rainbow Cup
Capt. J. S. Matterson and Dr. F. W. Maunsell met for first place in the Victoria Golf Club competition at the Victoria Golf Club on June 1, played off on Saturday, the match resulting in a win for Dr. Maunsell, who will now hold the cup until the competition is next played.

New York, June 7.—With the resumption of inter-sectional combats for the second time this season completely under way, first division clubs in the major leagues are found, with few exceptions, in crucial battles on foreign diamonds.

Grimes of Brooklyn stopped Pittsburgh in their first game of the Western invasion yesterday, and the New York Giants buried the Cubs in the only other scheduled contest in the National League. Snyder and Harfield hit homers.

Brooklyn now holds fourth place in the standing, but is only a single point in front of the Giants and Cardinals, who are tied for fifth place.

The Yankees evened their series with the Cleveland Indians, the game ending after the seventh inning owing to rain. The fans booed Cleveland pitchers as they walked Babe Ruth three times.

Boston Red Sox conquered the Chicago White Sox when they nipped an eighth-inning rally by Chicago with a triple play.

The St. Louis Browns shut out the Athletics.

The Washington-Detroit game was postponed owing to rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Brooklyn, June 7.—The Brooklyn Robins won their first stand against the western invasion by blanking the world's champion Pirates 2 to 0 yesterday. Herndon's double scored the winning run in the first and Blanton's single in the fifth drove Maraville home with the other run.

Pittsburgh, June 7.—The Pittsburgh Pirates won their first game of the season yesterday 15 to 0. The Giants romped away with the first game of a series with the Cubs yesterday 15 to 0. George Kelly, New York first baseman, featured the contest with a circuit drive that cleared the roof of the left field stands by two feet. Hartnett and Snyder, rival catchers, also banged homers.

Chicago, June 7.—Todt's homerun drive in the eighth enabled him to defeat Chicago, 4 to 3, although he hit six hits by Blankenship. Zahnizer was hit hard by the White Sox but made a home run and a triple play wrecked their chances of winning.

St. Louis, June 7.—Elam Vangilder, pitching one of the most spectacular games of the year, during which he allowed but three hits, was responsible for the St. Louis Browns' victory yesterday over the Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 3 to 0.

Philadelphia, June 7.—The Philadelphia Athletics won their first game of the season yesterday 3 to 0. The game will commence at 6:15 o'clock.

Pictorial Golf Instruction

By H. B. MARTIN

A TIP FROM ENGLAND

On her return from England and Scotland last Fall Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd brought back with her a new idea about the golf swing. She insisted that the women golfers over in England were taking the club back with the right hand and using the left as merely a guide. Taking the club back with this hand means also hitting with the right.

The average right-handed hitter takes the club back with the left. There is no shifting from one hand to the other in the new way and the right has control of the club all the time. It is worth trying even if one does not see the benefits immediately.

Play Is Progressing Well In Kingston St. Scratch Tournament
Play in the Kingston Street Tennis Club scratch tournament is now well under way, and matches are more keenly contested as it advances.

In the men's singles the favorites for finalists, O'Halloran and Cunningham, went into action and won their matches without being really hard pressed.

The men's and ladies' doubles saw some close matches, featured by a hard match between Phillips and Field and Temple and Hopkins. The former pair lost the first set through the brilliant play of their opponents, but took the next two sets on their consistency.

The following are the results of the week-end play:

MEN'S SINGLES
O'Halloran beat Stone 6-4, 6-4.
Hocking beat Giles 7-5, 6-4.

Hoggarth of Albions Took Six Wickets For Eight Runs;
Cowichan Beat Harlequins

Percy Payne wears the laurel leaves to-day as a result of his amazing bowling performance on Saturday in the cricket match between the Five C's and Albions. Payne was a real pain for the Albions, taking five wickets with successive balls in the second innings. The cricket world is usually turned topsy-turvy when a bowler performs the "hat-trick," which means taking three wickets on successive balls. Payne nearly doubled the "hat-trick" and now everyone is asking whether or not this is a world's record. Perhaps the Marylebone Cricket Club of England can answer the question, but no one in these parts is able to speak authoritatively enough on the matter.

Payne's bowling only went on to prove that the batmen in local cricket this year are inferior to the bowlers.

Little behind Payne's smart bowling was the work of Hoggarth, of the Albions, who has been a deadly bowler all season. On Saturday he took six wickets for eight runs in the first innings.

The scores in this match were Five C's, 29 and 92 for five wickets; Albions, 83 and 31.

The History of Belt Making is STARRED With Goodyear Achievements

INDUSTRY today stands debtor to Goodyear for money-saving, time-saving, profit-making developments in industrial rubber goods—belting, hose, packing, valves.

Those who remember industrial conditions ten years ago will remember that Goodyear forced on industry's attention the virtues of a new kind of rubber belt.

The Goodyear "sealed seam" eliminated ply-separation.

Goodyear produced the all-weather Klingite farm belt which forever took the troubles out of farm work.

Goodyear first used tire tread stock for the cover of a conveyor belt—stock so tough that it immediately added greatly to the life of the belt.

Goodyear, too, used this same tread stock to give industrial hose the protection it needs against abrasion and rough handling.

Goodyear developed the hose construction which eliminated the costly, trouble-making wire winding.

Goodyear pioneered the production of special hose for special uses.

This policy of development and advance is continuous with Goodyear. It never ceases. Any time you consult a Goodyear man, he is able to advise you with the knowledge of the latest development of Goodyear engineers. For any problem of belting, hose, packing, valves which you must meet, get in touch with the Goodyear Industrial Goods dealer or with the nearest Goodyear branch. SIMON FRASER STARTING UPON THE GREAT ADVENTURE

PREPARATORY to his project of descending the "Great River"—I now the Fraser River—Simon Fraser founded another post, which he called Fort George, at the confluence of the Nechako and Fraser Rivers. This was for the double purpose of serving the fur trade of the surrounding district and making a base for his great undertaking. His preparations were characteristically comprehensive. Four canoes were to carry the party, which consisted of himself, Mr. Stuart, Mr. Quesnel, nineteen men and two Indians. So, at five o'clock in the morning of a May day, 1808, Fraser and his party set upon their epochal adventure.

The Shelly salesmen also leave their base in the dark hours of early morning in order that you may enjoy 4X Bread, deliciously fresh, direct from the 4X Bakery. Phone your order to Shelly's and have 4X Bread delivered daily.

Building Yourself Scientifically

By Dr. Arthur F. Barton, Pastor of Victoria New Thought Temple

In building for success, no matter in what line of endeavor you seek it, the main thing to realize is that there is neither past nor future. These are unrealities. You cannot summon either of these in the vast sweep of time. The only reality is the present—the brand new moment—which has never been lived by anyone.

Many people are in the position of the man who went out to water his lawn and inadvertently stepped on the hose, shutting off the water supply. There was plenty of water at the source, ready to supply his needs. The only thing at fault was the man himself. He was standing on the hose and did not know it.

We are all creatures of our own convictions. We are unable to get beyond what we believe we are—what we believe we have got. We believe we have got to build ourselves scientifically, you must know what sort of structure you are desirous of building. There are powerful reasons for choosing some definite purpose in life.

With most objects of desire, Nature restricts our choice to but one of many represented goods, and so it is in the matter of occupation and purpose. You are confronted by the absolute necessity of standing by one of "thousands" and relinquishing all the rest. All other selves thereupon become unreal. For example: If you have chosen singing as your profession, and if a prize-fighter should get the best of you in a fist argument, you will suffer no chagrin about that, and you will satisfy yourself with the remark that you were not trained in that "line." With no attempt, there can be no failure. With no failure—no humiliation. So, our self-fulfilling in this world depends entirely on what we back ourselves to be and do.

Your thoughts possess radio-activity. They are actually "things" traveling by means of wave vibration, just as light and sound travel. By what is termed the "law of attraction," the thoughts in your mind tend to attract similar thoughts in the minds of others. All of the vibrations in the minds of others which are similar to your own ways of thinking will tend to help bring about in your life the accomplishments which you have visualized.

One of the most deadly enemies is easily killed when you know the antidote, and this you have always at hand in your own mind. All that you have to do is to substitute hope, courage, cheerfulness and serenity for despondency, discouragement, pessimism and worry. Opposite thoughts will not live together and no two thoughts can occupy the same mind at the same time. You cannot have light and darkness in a room at the same time; neither can you travel in two directions at once. The chances are that the worst things that could have happened to you—the things you entertained the most vivid fears concerning—never did happen. Yet it is more than likely that you put yourself in the way of coming by your own mental attitude.

Here is a most important and valuable truth to get into your mind. It is that you would get your mental attitude right, live only with positive, constructive ideas, visualizing clearly what it is that you want to do, what the goal is that you wish to attain, picturing the thing you desire to come true in your life and excluding the pictures of the things you do not wish to happen. You will then have made a tremendous step ahead toward prosperity and success. Remember: your predominant mental attitude constitutes a life pattern. Your thoughts are the causes—your environment is the result. If your thoughts have been fear and worry thoughts, then poverty, want and lack are shown in your environment as the results.

No man has a right, unless he cannot help himself, to remain where he is, afraid of poverty, afraid of failure, afraid of lightning and tornadoes; afraid of epidemics. Their whole lives are filled with fear, fear, fear.

The fears of the primeval man were based upon the known terrors but the instinct of fear has remained in the subconscious mind of man of to-day, to a degree unnecessary for the maintenance of life as it is now lived.

Fear is really a fear of fear—fear that we will be afraid when confronted by some situation or condition. Fear is an inherited instinct. Fear is the darker area which is passed but which, for the most part, we do not need any more than we need the flint-lock which was once useful to our ancestors.

Worry is a type of fear. Worry does great injury to a man. It incapacitates him from doing his best. It injures his thinking powers and clogs his brain. Worry thoughts can

"The Blessed Sacrament"

Bishop O'Donnell Addressed Congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral Yesterday Prior to His Departure to Attend the Eucharistic Congress at Chicago

"This is My Body." "This is My Blood."

The International Eucharistic Congress which is to be held at Chicago will be a public manifestation of Catholic belief in the real presence of Jesus Christ in the Eucharist. From all parts of the world, men and women of every nation and tongue under heaven will make their way to the great Middle-west city for the public professions of their faith. On Sunday, June 20, one million Catholics, at least, in that city, will receive Holy Communion, and other millions unnumbered in the continents and islands of the world will join in spirit with their brethren in America in the reception of the Bread of Life, Jesus Christ.

What a wonderful expression of love to Jesus, Our Lord, God and Saviour. What an example of unity of belief in the teaching of the Church of Christ. What a wonderful expression of love to Jesus, Our Lord, God and Saviour. What an example of unity of belief in the teaching of the Church of Christ. What a wonderful expression of love to Jesus, Our Lord, God and Saviour. What an example of unity of belief in the teaching of the Church of Christ.

By the appearances of bread and wine, we mean, the taste, color and form of bread and wine, which still remain, after the bread and wine are changed into the body and blood of Christ. This wonderful example of God's power and love for men is called "Transubstantiation" by the Doctors of the Church, a convenient, philosophic name wherewith to label what is really a miracle of faith in the wondrous change effected in the Eucharist.

It is to be wondered at that many cry out like the Jews of old: "How can this Man give us His flesh to eat?" Yet we believe it on the word of God made Man, as we believe also that the same God of Glory suffered death, under the appearance of a criminal on the cross. By the goodness and power of the same God "with whom no word shall be impossible," we have received Christ the Son of God to be our food and eternal sacrifice.

THE EUCARIST

The action of Christ at the Last Supper, when He gave us His real body and blood to be our spiritual food and drink, is the most important event in the history of the Church. It is the fulfillment of what He had already preached to the disciples and to the multitude following Him across the sea to Capernaum after His first miraculous multiplication of the loaves and fishes to feed five thousand.

In this discourse upon the "bread of life," our Lord urges upon His hearers the duty of feeding spiritually upon Him, by faith in Him—faith in His divine mission and hence in whatever He should teach them. (St. John vi. 32-40). The Saviour of the world then passes from the subject of faith to an entirely new point of doctrine. He proposes as His text the words: "I am the Bread of Life" and proceeds to develop that text in two distinct but closely connected points. In the first we have: "I am the bread of life. He that cometh to me shall not hunger and he that believeth in me shall not thirst." (Jo. vi. 35). In the second part, metaphor is abandoned and He declares: "I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever. And the bread that I will give is My flesh for the life of the world."

The Jews saw the drift of the discourse and the difference between the first and second part. When, in the first part, Christ said that it was His Father's will that whosoever "eateth the Son and believeth in Him" may have everlasting life (Jo. vi. 40). The Jews murmured at Him because He claimed a divine mission and threw in His face that He was only an obscure individual, the son of Joseph the carpenter. "How then saith He, I came down from heaven?" (Ver. 41). But, when Jesus alters His expressions and says: "If any man eat of this bread," immediately explaining that it consists of "My flesh for the life of the world," the whole character of the murmuring changes. Now it is, "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?" The Jews understood Christ to speak of a real eating and reception within the individual. If this literal interpretation by the Jews of the words of Christ had been a mistake, we know what Christ would have done. Mistakes had occurred before. He had immediately corrected them. What does He do on this important down to days of Pius XI, gloriously reigning, and you find on every page and in every age the belief in the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist. Read the Councils of the Church from first to last, and there you read the belief of Christianity uninterrupted in the Blessed Eucharist for 1,900 years. Go into the Catacombs and there you will see the belief of the early Christians in pictures and symbols and read in them the testimony of the Saints and Martyrs, Virgins and Confessors and you will find that their belief, for which they suffered and died, was that Christ was really and truly and substantially present in the Most Blessed Sacrament.

In conclusion, I invite you to be with me in spirit at the Great Eucharistic Congress, to join with the Catholic world, with Christians from every nation under heaven in giving adoration, praise and thanksgiving to Christ our King in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar.

"Down in adoration kneeling,
Lo, the Sacred Host we hail,
Lo, o'er ancient forms departing,
Newer rites of grace prevail.
Faith for all defects supplying,
When the feeble senses fail."

Personal Christian Experience

Sermon Preached at Emmanuel Baptist Church Yesterday by Rev. Henry Knox.

"I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day—If Timothy 1, 12."

The influence of Christianity is such that with extreme difficulty could one find in this country of ours an individual unaffected by it. It is one thing, however, to come under the influence of Christianity; it is quite another thing to have a personal experience of that religion of which Jesus Christ is the centre and of which the New Testament is the record.

In the main, thought of the Christian religion, has centred in the person and teaching of Jesus Christ. Next in importance has been the study of Christian experience and personal experience has received so much consideration as that of the apostle Paul, saint scholar, traveler and missionary. Biographical and autobiographical sketches alike reveal a man with a genuine and vital religious experience. In this service it is possible to concentrate upon a part of that varied experience and I invite you to examine the meaning of the testimony and declaration of faith found in the text.

1. Consider his decisive act. He refers to the commitment of himself to God, which he describes as depositing himself in the keeping of God, in Christ Jesus. During his lifetime Paul had a few red-letter days. It was such a day when for the first time he saw Jerusalem; it was such a day when he sat at the feet of the great teacher, Gamaliel, and it was such a day when he became an advocate of Judaism. But all those days were eclipsed, when one day on the way to Damascus he was confronted with Jesus of Nazareth, whom he persecuted, and there came a change in his attitude to Jesus and acknowledged His Lordship. His call to discipleship was responded to in whole-hearted consecration to Christ and the dedication of his powers of body, mind and spirit to a cause than which is no greater in the world. That was the day of his conversion, the day of his second birth, the day of his emancipation from the law, the day of his redemption from sin and guilt and condemnation. It was the day when he put off the garment of self-righteousness and put on the robe of Christ's righteousness. It was the day when his feet were put in the path of life. It was for him the beginning of an experience of the grace of God. Life, for him, that day began to take on new meaning for he was initiated into a new fellowship; fellowship with God and with the people of God. He realized the deep significance of this readjustment of his life in its relation to God and in its contacts with men he frequently heard the incidents of that unforgettable day.

That act of depositing his life in the keeping of God was a voluntary one as is the case of every such commitment. There was no divine compulsion used, for God does not compel such action. It was the act of a man free to do what he would with his life. But at the same time it was the act of a man convinced that his previous conscientious objections to Jesus of Nazareth were groundless and that in opposing Jesus he had been misplaced and misdirected zeal. The revelation of Jesus Christ broke down his opposition and the true and fullest use of his will was found in subjecting it to the will of God. This religious experience is never thrust upon anyone but is made possible by the grace of God in Christ Jesus. Only through personal dealings with Jesus, who is declared to be the only Saviour, is it effectually known. By an act of commitment of the soul to Jesus, Paul and all who imitate him are saved.

2. Consider next that which he claimed to know, "I know whom I have believed." In his book, "The Mind of the Master," Dr. John Watson

Does Your Daily Diet Meet the Needs of Modern Living?

How different is our hurrying, scurrying life of to-day from the leisurely living of grandmother's time. How much greater is the demand upon bodily energy and vigor! Yet how far we have strayed from the simple, whole foods which were the fare of grandmother's table! We expect to receive the energy to carry us successfully through these hurried, nerve-strained days from foods which have been designed primarily to tickle our palate—not to give our bodies the certain vitally necessary elements of nutrition!

Only if you had made a study of dietetics could you select the proper foods for energy and vitality—know which to select, which to reject so that you would secure this vital nourishment properly balanced. So a food expert has done this for you—designed one food which will supply to your body five of the essential elements of nutrition.

Grape-Nuts, made from whole wheat and malted barley, supplies these vital elements of nourishment: Dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; iron for the blood; phosphorus to build strong, healthy bones and teeth; protein for muscle and tissue building; and the very important vitamin-B.

And Grape-Nuts gives you these vital elements of nourishment in delicious form! Just pour a little into a bowl—four teaspoonfuls is enough—and fill the space beside it with milk or cream. Chew it slowly. Enjoy to the utmost the rich, nut-like flavor of this wonderful food.

A special baking process prepares Grape-Nuts for easy digestion—makes it possible for you to get the full goodness of this splendid food with the least digestive effort.

And Grape-Nuts is a crisp food—a food you like to chew. It gives your teeth and gums the exercise which every dentist so urgently recommends.

Grape-Nuts is sold by all grocers in wax-packed packages from which it is ready to eat.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, June 7 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Market movements were mixed with a reduced volume in turn over but selling for the decline met with an improved buying power and late developments were in the nature of a rallying market, which was quite general. Some of the carrier and petroleum shares during the general reactionary development early reflected a good class of buying, prominent in this respect were New Haven, whose May earnings gave clearer indications that this road may work out of its difficulties. Kansas City Southern was also prominent in the recognition of this southwestern expansion programme while among the petroleum share, Panama American B was a special feature on the upside due to reports of increasing earnings.

New York, June 7 (By R. C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Wall Street attached great importance at the start of the new week to the interview given to Dow Jones by H. E. Parsons, president of F. W. Woolworth Company, in which he declared that a definite upward turn in general business had taken place the last month.

This light on the question which has been puzzling the speculative mind greatly strengthened bullish sentiment, and stocks developed a strong tone in the afternoon after a period of hesitancy in the morning dealings. Rallying tendencies were helped along by the comfortable situation existing in the money market. No calling of loans occurred and funds were available for trading purposes all day at four per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, June 7 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—Buying of more general character lifted prices into new high on the movement. Heavy profit taking on reports of crop reports from the top levels later, but the close was firm. Considerable selling that caused the reaction from top was based on reports of crop reports from the traffic division of the Santa Fe Railway placing the Kansas crop at 160,000,000 bushels. Last week another division of that road placed the probable yield in that state at 125,000,000 as a minimum.

Chicago, June 7 (By B. C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—Wheat: Trade was the broadest to date in some time past, and with aggressive commission house buying based on bullish private crop reports from parts of Kansas prices advanced to a new high on the present movement, July showing over 8 cents above last week's closing.

Selling against offers combined with heavy profit-taking sales caused a reaction, but the breaks brought in a new buying.

Find 20-Foot Vein In Red Lake District

Winnipeg, June 7.—Prospectors from the Red Lake district and from the Lake Winnipeg districts are converging upon a little explored territory which lies to the East of the boundary line between Manitoba and Ontario and Southern of the Red Lake area, according to reports received here to-day.

Captain Evans-Atkinson, a British mining expert, has arrived here after an eventful three month expedition trip into the district. He reports the discovery of a 20-foot vein in width and crude methods of testing the ore showed good values. Going to the unexplored country in March, Captain Evans-Atkinson experienced many hardships of the trail and on his return journey he traveled two days and nights continuously without food in order to reach the railroad.

Ottawa, June 7.—When an item of $150,000 for payment of salaries and expenses in connection with the St. Lawrence Ship Canal survey and investigation came up for consideration, the committee of the whole House, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, stated there had been no commitment of any kind by the Government of Canada for the joint construction of the deepening of the St. Lawrence. The appropriation carried.

MYSTERY SOLUTION STORY IS DENIED

North Carolinian Claims He is

Members of Ross Family Say
He is Not; Many Impostors in Past

New York, June 7.—The half-century-old mystery of the kidnapping of Charlie Ross was under a repeated crossfire of claims and denials of solution to-day.
Mrs. Pierre G. Starr of New York presented in a newspaper this morning a claim that she had found the missing Ross in the person of a rugged southerner who had adopted the name of W. C. McHale. Mrs. Starr claimed to be a cousin of the late Christian K. Ross of Germantown, Pa., wealthy father of the child kidnapped in 1874. Mrs. Starr brought the man she claims is Charlie Ross to New York from the mountains of North Carolina.

JOHN GREENWOOD

1136 Government Street

Living in Philadelphia immediately branded her story as "ridiculous." Walter L. Ross, a brother of the kidnapped boy, said: "She is an im-poster and this is not the first time she had tried the same trick."

WANDERED ABOUT

McHale, declaring he wanted no money but only his birthright, said he knew he had been abducted as a child. He told of having been carried through the southern part of the United States in his youth by a wandering tinkler and gunsmith, who went by various names.

This man, McHale said, admitted to him he was not his father and promised some day to tell him who he was, but died without fulfilling his promise.

One of the theories of Charlie Ross' abduction was that he had been carried off by peddlers.

Christian K. Ross spent $60,000 in searching for the boy before he died in 1897. In a book about the search he said some 200 children had been put forward as his son. Since his death the solution of the mystery has been claimed many times, but each claim proved false.

GUIDES' FETE AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE ATTRACTED CROWDS

ers of all ages and tastes. White rabbits, kittens, boarder lamps, cakes, candies, aprons, dolls, toys, fancy and plain needlework and woolies, all made a strong appeal and were in generous demand.

Side shows included, croquet, clock chairs of the local association, clock golf, Tiltium Girl Guides, the very busy "generous goose" of the Sunshine College Brownies, looked after by a charming young witch, and a fish pond for which Sefton College Guides were responsible.

A string of ponies kindly lent by Major Piddington, was kept in constant action, every little guest eagerly demanding the opportunity to ride.

Tea was served on one of the lower lawns, over 500 guests being served during the afternoon, and much credit is due to the ladies of the association and other friends for their generous assistance, as well as to the general convenor, Mrs. L. A. Genge, for the excellence of the arrangements. Valuable help was also given by the Boy Scouts of the James Bay, Third and Collegiate Troops, and by Mrs. Alexander and Misses Eastman and Unwin, who presided at the receipt of customs.

JUVENILE PIPERS

A very great attraction was the Juvenile Pipe Band, which added greatly to the gaiety and pleasure of the afternoon by generously volunteering their services. The pipers appeared to great advantage as they paced the big lawn and won much applause, the Lieutenant-Governor personally congratulating their leader, Pipe-Major Wallace on their achievement.

Almost all the members of the local association were present; and took an active part in the proceedings: Mrs. Genge, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Stewart-Williams, Mrs. Sterling, Mrs. Hebban Gillespie and Miss Newcomb being prominent. Miss Wigley, Miss Lottie Bowron and Miss Unwin took the opportunity to make a drive for new members of the association, in which they proved most successful.

son wrote, "Religion is knowledge," and in support of his statement, quoted the words of Jesus, "This is life eternal that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." Paul had deposited, for safe keeping, his whole being, body, soul and spirit, with all his interests for time and eternity; and God with whom the deposit was made, was not unknown to him. Personal Christian experience is inconceivable without a very definite personal knowledge of God. Paul, with all other Jewish boys, had been taught about God, the God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, but that is not the knowledge of which he now writes. God made himself known to men in different ways in the olden time, but in the fulness of time he revealed himself in His Son. Since Jesus lived, died and rose again from among the dead, God has been another and nearer being to man; and he was this to Paul, whose experience we are now considering. "Give me that God," wrote Henry Ward Beecher, "who is represented in Jesus Christ. I cannot bow down and worship him," and when this great Christian wrote, "I know whom I have trusted," he had in mind God represented in Jesus Christ.

The cry of the human heart is for God. The quest for God is not futile. It is not only true that God may be known; God is known. Paul's knowledge of God may have been unusually full for he had been initiated into great spiritual secrets. A perusal of his writings reveal a deep and broad intimacy with God. He wrote freely of his patience and long-suffering; of his wisdom and power; of his love and grace and of his authority and will. As a servant knows his master, as a son knows his father, and as a sinner knows his Saviour, so Paul knew God.

Primarily and fundamentally Christian experience is not related to what we call Christian doctrine. It is related to acquaintance with God who is Father and Saviour. Such acquaintance inevitably produces a worthy Christian life. If men but know God, humility, reverence, trust, worship and service of God will ensue, for these are the fruits of loving fellowship with Him.

3. Consider also that of which he was persuaded. "I am persuaded that he is able to keep my deposit."

Anniversary Sermon at Centennial

Preached Sunday Evening by Rev. J. P. Westman.

II Cor. II, 15—"Who is sufficient for these things?"

To-day we celebrate the first anniversary in connection with the United Church of Canada. There is much for which we should be thankful. We cannot help being thankful for the wonderful spirit manifest in the workings of this new body. The enlarged fellowship, the widening vision, the spirit of liberality, and the faith with which it faces the large demands are all encouraging features.

We to-day, stand on sacred ground. We have the history and record of the three uniting bodies behind us and under us as a foundation on which to rest. We have had handed to us a rich heritage. There are more than 700,000 members and over 2,000,000 people, there are over 1,000,000 young people to be educated and trained. There are every mission fields calling for aid and direction.

Our history is one of triumph, faith and courage. The church has never lacked for men and women of the heroic spirit willing to go to the farthest points to carry the good tidings of the gospel to all people.

We can only carry over into tomorrow what we have to-day. Our greatness is partly determined by our past. Our faith comes from what we have done and the assurance of even greater things. No future can be great without a past. No present is great if there be no great outlook for the future. We are only great as we combine these two, the past and the unknown future.

Facing the world task we can well ask: who is sufficient for these things? If the church is to do its work effectively, it must ever remember the prime essential which is the consecrated individual. The greatest attraction in any church is the God-filled individual. The greatest power the church has is the campaign is the endowment of God in its life.

The greater we are the greater the demands upon us for the present and the future. It means preparation. Jesus told His disciples to tarry in Jerusalem until they were endued with power—a good start. He prayed long hours before tackling a difficult problem. Paul went to Jerusalem before he went to Rome. Preparation is necessary before success can follow. The personal downflow of spiritual radiance from the Most High. Some people never make any spiritual progress because they never have been tied in Jerusalem; some have forgotten the soulful songs they learned because they have ceased to practice.

The unique place which Jesus occupied is due to His profound religious experience. His words and works are self-revealing. When we hear Him speak we listen to the life throbbing of His faith and hope, and we anticipate the great experiences of life of which He was worthy. His words are not single pieces of artistic theological mosaic, they are diamond rays of His personality which shine upon us.

The work of the United Church is to take the place of Jesus and reveal to the world the same God-consciousness which He presented to the world. This demands our best. We follow Jesus I get my mind off the minor things of life and centre them upon the major. I rise above such questions as to when or where or how I am to do it. I am forced to think of the sublime life I am to live, if I am ever to be able to see Him. My mind is centred upon the kind of life I must live to be able to comprehend the heights and glories of mankind.

Having laid the foundation in the lives of people as individuals in the fact of a God-consciousness and reached in ideal the high conception of the coming Kingdom, it is then our duty to develop a programme which embodies the ideal we have received when in communication with God Himself and to follow this with the effort on our part to make real the ideal we have received according to the programme prepared by us in harmony with the will of God. This is the task of the United Church.

We behold a world civilization in which honesty and friendliness in personal life and social institutions would be made universal and secure, a civilization in which all men and women would work together in a powerful, true and faithful brotherhood at all varied tasks to be set for them by the unfolding will of God. How and when this goal is to be reached will answer itself in the course of the developing human life. The way is set by the unfolding will of God and completed by the developing human life.

We must recognize that character is not the product of a fiat. It is a growth, a transmutation by development, of the unfolding will of God. The early Christians had no idea of this and there are many of the same type to-day. They live in a world of theological cataclysm. They think of the world beginning that way, and think it will end in the same manner. Jesus' life was an utter contradiction of this conception. He came as a child; He grew as a boy; He worked as a man. He thought as one with a God.

Learn to think and think right. Think bravely. Dare to think alone. Let your mind work joyfully. Open all the windows of your mind. Cultivate those thoughts which spring from gladness, happiness, freedom, and you will know the real meaning of happiness. This will teach you to think yourself from sickness to health, from failure to success, from everything. There is no restriction, no limitation, no loss to anybody from His abundant giving.

We are not dealing with a Creator who is to be glorified by granting our requests. It is His nature to give, to flood us with our hearts' desires. He does not have less because we ask much. The rose does not ask the sun for a tiny bit of its light and heat, for it is the sun's nature to throw it out to everything and everybody or whatever will absorb it and drink it in. The candle loses nothing of its light by lighting another candle. We do not lose our capacity for friendship by being friendly but we increase it.

If, first of all, you desire a lot of money, then you must exclude all other things. Think in terms of money, prosperity and financial success. Visualize in your mind mental pictures of the things of which you are desirous. You will thus set in motion the machinery which will reproduce for you the result desired by you. Your thoughts will be a pattern and will act as a mental mould from which actual events will shape themselves. Overwhelming desires—not weak wishes—furnish the fuel for running the mental machinery after mental patterns have set it in motion.

One of the most constructive qualities that you can cultivate is that of faith. Faith is the ability to accomplish the thing you have set out to do, faith in other people.

Get the habit of belief, continue it, and you will find it really believe in the accomplishment of your desires, with all sincerity. Start right at home. Have faith in yourself, have faith in your own cash. You will become regal when you think you can. If you wish to have sovereign personal power, have faith in yourself, have control of yourself. The short cut to failure is to lose faith in yourself. It is not from lack of strength that you fail, it is from lack of self-reliance. Cultivate self-faith. Start now to find the first point where you fall down. Stake it. Set a granite pillar there and chain yourself to it. Be resolute and do not waver. Stamp a value upon yourself and make it good. Now move to the next point. What is it? Lack of will. Alas, put it down, exercise. Get it behind a strong, definite purpose, then hold with magnetic force of thought, plan that purpose of yours, then your will will rise and give it power. By day let it achieve your purpose. Put faith into your will and you will become invincible. You must have a purpose and a plan. Make them both big.

Five physicians told Douglas Jerrold that he must die. "I won't die," he replied. He didn't die. Sir Walter Scott, racked and depressed in mind and body by business disaster stood facing death at $50,000 at the age of fifty-five. "I will fight it out," he said, and with self-faith, resolute determination he drove his pen through pain and suffering until all was paid and great honor was won. His purpose and plan backed by self-faith did it.

They told Wycliffe they would destroy his teaching of Christian liberty by burning him at stake. "Very well," he replied. "Burn my body at the stake, and scatter my ashes on the river of Severn, and its waters will carry my faith and principles to the uttermost parts of the earth." So it was.

Yonah, the author of "David Harum," was a great sufferer from tuberculosis, and as he wrote that charming book of human nature he was daily dying. But his self-faith and sense of humor sustained him. He said "It is a good thing for a dog to have fleas, as it keeps him from thinking too much of his dog."

Put faith into your life, give it purpose, aim, ideals and it will win. There is a great waste of your time that you often trifle with, and that is indecision. Indecision accounts for the lack of purpose. You will find hosts of truly great men and women, people with brilliant minds in the world to-day, who have failed in the rust of indecision. Many authorities say that indecision is a lack of self-power. It is deeper than that. It comes from wrong thinking, wrong living and wrong environment.

You need to think a great deal about your power of decision. Begin at once, the case of your indecision. Root it out. Decision is the watch-dog of efficiency. It is the foundation of character. Decision focalizes energy. Many people split themselves into many little person-alities and become "Jacks-of-all-trades." Decide upon one great aim in life. Choose some ruling passion of work. Select some position first thrusts on through the years. Stick to that a lifetime. Something that keeps you growing, delights you, interests you, makes you nobler, stronger personality year by year. There is a vast difference in bulk between a pound of lead and a pound of feathers, but a pound of lead will bring about more decision in a minute than a pound of feathers could in a year. Stop vacillating. Put decision into your mind, and you will weather the storms of life.

In building yourself scientifically, the tools you work with are invisible and intangible. They are thoughts and they become real. Believe that these things are true. Believe that faith and courage and success grow only from faith, courage and success thoughts.
